Woman is Killed by C., D. & M. Car

CROSSES TRACK ON WAY TO SEE SICK FRIEND

Miss Mary Lill, 65, Prospect-pk, Is Victim of Mishap

DIES ALMOST INSTANTLY

Was Taking Short Cut Across Field to Home of Neighbor

Miss Mary Lill, 65, residing five miles south of the city on the Prospect-pk, was almost instantly killed shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon when she was struck by a southbound C., D. & M. interurban car near her home.

The aged woman was taking a short cut across fields carrying food to a sick friend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Furnace when the fatal accident occurred. It is believed that she did not see the car coming.

The tragedy was witnessed by David E. Saunders, Waterloo-st, who was standing a short distance from the scene of the accident. Mr. Saunders was engaged in repair work on the Hocking Valley tracks which lie near the traction line at that point.

Skull Fractured

Mr. Saunders looked up from his work just in time to see the speeding car strike the woman. He was the first to reach her side. She died of a fractured skull and internal injuries before aid could be summoned.

Hess, Markert & Axe ambulance was called and brought the body to Marion.

Miss Lill had been making her home with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Keil.

PUBLISHER DEMANDS GOV. JACKSON QUIT

Adams, Vincennes Publisher, Goes Before State Republican Committee

Indianapolis., Feb. 23—Dramatically reviving his onslaught upon alleged corrupt state politics, Thomas H. Adams, veteran crusading editor of the Vincennes Commercial, today asked the Republican State Committee of Indiana, in session here, to demand the resignation of Gov. Ed Jackson. In the event of the governor's refusal to quit his office voluntarily Adams demanded that the state committee initiate the necessary steps to bring about the governor's impeachment.

The demands of Adams, who in the fall of 1926 blew the lid off the alleged political corruption in Hoosierdom and paved the way for the grand jury investigations which resulted in the indictment of 16 public officials, including the governor, were conveyed to E. Faye Kotseiman of Muncie, newly-elected "new deal" state Republican chairman.

SAY LINDY TO HEAD AIR LINE

Famous Flier in Conference with Lanphier and Business Men

Detroit, Feb. 23—Reports concerning organization of a new Chicago-New York airway via Detroit to be headed by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Maj. Thomas G. Lanphier were circulated today with the "mystery visit" to Detroit of Lindbergh.

Flying with as much secrecy as possible, Lindbergh with four St. Louis capitalists arrived last night at Selfridge Field where the party went into seclusion in Major Lanphier's quarters.

"My mission here is a purely private one and I do not wish to be interviewed," Lindbergh told a reporter over the phone.

Later Major Lanphier was asked if he and Lindbergh planned to organize the new airway as reported.

"I do not wish to say anything," Lanphier replied. "I will not deny or affirm the report."

Recent public remarks of Major Lanphier, however, lend color to reports concerning the deal.

HOCKING MERCHANTS FACING BANKRUPTCY

Organize Civic Association in Effort to Reopen Valley Coal Mines

Athens, Feb. 23—With many Hocking Valley merchants and professional men facing bankruptcy, an organized effort was being made today to bring about an agreement between operators and miners which would end the coal strike in this district at an early date.

About 100 business and professional residents of Athens, Nelsonville, Glouster and other Athens County points met here last night and organized the Athens County Civic Association. Deeming the existing situation "desperate," the association selected a committee to confer immediately wih coal operators and union miners' officials in the hope of effecting a wage agreement which will terminate the strike in time for the Hocking Valley mines to share in the lake trade which opens up soon.

Members of the association voiced the fear that if the strike is not ended within the next few weeks, the mines in the Hocking Valley may remain idle for another year, at least.

Alex Moore, Athens, was chosen president of the association. The committee comprises Fred Beasley and Charles P. Kircher of Athens, R. G. Webber and C. E. Duncan of Glouster, and Edgar Dean and Julius Fischer of Nelsonville.

STEWART LOSES HIS FREEDOM; WRIT DISMISSED

But Oil Man's Attorneys Serve Notice of Appeal and Post Bond

LONG LEGAL FIGHT SEEN

Justice Bailey, Dropping Habeas Corpus Action, Says Grounds Frivolous

Washington, Feb. 23—The writ of habeas corpus by which Col. Robert W. Stewart, multi-millionaire head of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, obtained his release from arrest by the U. S. Senate two weeks ago, was dismissed today by Justice Jennings Bailey in District Supreme Court.

The court's action automatically remanded the oil magnate to the custody of the Senate, and Deputy Sergeant-at-Arms John J. McGrain was on hand to take charge of him.

Stewart's attorneys, however, immediately gave notice of appeal, and Justice Bailey fixed the bond at $5,000, which was immediately posted.

Thus Stewart gains his freedom from physical detention until such time as the Court of Appeals passes upon his case. It is the intention of the oil man's attorneys to fight the case clear to the United States Supreme Court, thus insuring a long drawn out legal struggle of perhaps a year's duration or more.

Says Grounds Frivolous

No extended opinion accompanied the court's vacation of the writ. Justice Bailey mounted his bench promptly at 10 o'clock and within three minutes announced his decision.

"In my opinion," said the justice, "the grounds upon which the petitioner (Stewart) refused to testify (before the Senate Oil Committee) were frivolous and without legal basis, and his attachment (by the Senate) was justified."

Stewart's lawyers will have 60 days in which to perfect their appeal from Justice Bailey's decision. Unless this work is expedited—which no one believes it will be—it is probable that the

LEAGUE WILL CALL HUNGARY 'ON CARPET'

Official Explanation of Machine Guns Shipment Will Be Demanded

Geneva, Feb. 23—An official explanation from Hungary regarding the shipment of five carloads of Italian-made machine guns to that country will be demanded when the League of Nations council meets next month, it was learned this afternoon. This is the first time that Hungary "has been called upon the carpet" by the league.

Numerous private conferences were held during the day by delegates to the security commission meeting.

It is understood that a small group of statesmen headed by Dr. Benes of Czechoslovakia, president of the security commission, is advocating reorganization of the Little Entente. Under the proposed reorganization plan Poland would be dropped and the new line-up would include Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia, Roumania, Austria and Hungary.

Italy will oppose such a combination on the ground it might imperil Europe's peace.

TAKE STEPS TO HALT TARIFF LAW ATTACK

Three Minor Bills, Apparently Unobjectionable, Pigeon-Holed by Committee

Washington, Feb. 23—Extraordinary methods have been involved by administration leaders of the House to prevent a general assault on the Fordney-McCumber Tariff Law by the Democratic-Progressive coalition of the Senate, it was disclosed today.

Three minor bills, unobjectionable in themselves, have been pigeon-holed because, it is said, they would open the door for amendments rewriting the whole tariff law.

Every bill which comes on the floor of the House is understood to be subjected to unusual scrutiny and every reference to the tariff is being stricken out.

RICHWOOD GIRL IS KILLED IN AUTO MISHAP

Starling Louise Cramer Succumbs in City Hospital Following Accident

Starling Louise Cramer, 16-year-old Richwood High School student, died in Marion City Hospital at 2 o'clock this morning as a result of injuries received in an automobile accident on the Richwood-Essex-rd about 11 o'clock last night.

The girl, with three companions, was returning from a high school lecture course program when the accident occurred. The girl became frightened when the car skidded on the icy road, according to the story of her companions, and jumped from the front seat of the machine. She was thrown to the ground. Her shoulder and chest were crushed by the impact. One lung was punctured by a broken rib.

The driver of the machine was Le-Roy Clevinger, 17. Other occupants were Rebecca Cheney, 17, and Carrol Reece, 17. All are Richwood High School students.

Brought to Hospital

Following the accident the girl was taken to the office of a physician in Richwood and was later removed to the hospital in the Winter & Son ambulance. Death occurred an hour after reaching the hospital.

The four students were going to the home of Miss Cheney following the close of the lecture course program.

The front door of the machine, an Essex coach, was torn off and it is supposed that the girl's body caught on the door as she leaped from the car. The machine skidded into the ditch but was not damaged other than the front door. The three other occupants were not seriously injured.

Officer of Class

The girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cramer, of Richwood. She is survived by the parents, a three-year-old sister, Suzanne; a grandmother, Mrs. G. J. Baldwin; and Mr. and Mrs. Emery Osborne, Detroit, Mich., mother and step-father of Mr. Cramer.

Miss Cramer was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Richwood and was a junior in the Richwood High School. She was a star member of the high school basketball team and also was secretary and treasurer of the Junior Class.

Funeral arrangements have not been made.

LOCKHART PLUNGES INTO OCEAN AT 240

Captain Campbell's Mark of 206.95 Miles an Hour Will Officially Stand

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 23—Capt. Malcolm Campbell of Great Britain, will officially hold the world's speed record as the result of his 206.95 miles per hour flash across the Daytona-Ormond Beach course last Sunday.

Frank Lockhart, only American contender who was qualified in the race, was lying in a hospital suffering from shock, bruises and abdominal cuts as a result of a wild plunge into the Atlantic at 240 miles per hour Wednesday.

Lockhart today said that he will repair his machine, from which he had to be cut out with blow torches by mechanics in their effort to save him from almost certain death. Under his agreement with Captain Campbell, he will not try to break the record again for at last 30 days, making Campbell the official record holder.

C., D. & M. HEAD SAYS NO FARE BOOST SOUGHT

A. F. Van Deinse Asserts Company Would Rather Discontinue City Cars

ANSWERS REALTY BOARD

Declares Service Here No Longer Will Pay Profitable Return

There appears to be little hope of inducing the C., D. & M. Electric Co. to consider any proposals to continue operation of the local street railway system following expiration of the present franchise on Oct. 5, according to information coming today from A. F. Van Deinse, president and general manager of the company.

The Marion Real Estate Board, in a unanimous vote cast by the members at a meeting Tuesday, went on record in favor of retaining street railway service if suitable arrangements could be made.

In discussing the matter, the board members suggested that an increase in fare might help out the situation and cause the C., D. & M. to reconsider its decision to give up the franchise.

This action of the real estate dealers organization was taken entirely on its own volition and comes as a surprise to him and other officials of the C., D. & M., Mr. Van Deinse stated.

Not Seeking Increase

He placed especial emphasis on the statement that the company is not seeking a fare increase or any other concessions.

The sole reason of the company in deciding to discontinue its street railway service is based on the belief that street cars can not be operated profitably in cities the size of Marion Mr. Van Deinse says.

A two-cent fare increase, as suggested by the Marion Real Estate Board, would cover the operating deficit of last year and leave a margin of profit, but it would not come near to providing an adequate return on the company's investment, the C., D. & M. president pointed out.

The cost of constructing street rail-

Local Party Leaders Busy Preparing To Get Under Wire Before Closing

With Friday set by law as the last day for entering candidates for convention delegates to be voted on at the presidential preference primary on April 24, local party leaders were busy today preparing to get under the wire before closing time.

Work of compiling lists of prospective delegates and alternates was started by the Democratic County executive committee following a meeting held Tuesday and it was announced today that similar steps are being taken by the Republican organization.

D. J. Shelton, county Republican chairman, said that his party will have its quota of delegates filed within the time required by law.

Each party is entitled to 12 delegates from Marion County in the state conventions, which will be held following nomination of presidential candidates at the national conventions.

At noon today only one candidate for district delegate to either of the national conventions had qualified here for the presidential preference primary. This one entrant is H. B. Mast, who is pledged to vote for Herbert Hoover for the Republican presidential nomination.

An additional sign of activity of the Hoover forces in the eighth congressional district was reported today from Morrow County, where V. W. Pugh, prominent Cardington Republican, has qualified as a Hoover alternate.

Five men indicted by the grand jury here Monday were taken to the state reformatory and state penitentiary today to start serving sentences imposed by Judge Scofield. All of the men pleaded guilty when arraigned Tuesday.

William R. Chapman and Alvin White, residents of Richwood, were taken to the reformatory at Mansfield this afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Vane Ireland, both having been sentenced to serve from one to 15 years. They pleaded guilty to an indictment charging assault with intent to rob. They attacked J. E. Both Chapman and White gave their ages as 19 years.

Majors and Wells will serve three years as the result of their pleas of guilty to burglarizing the W. J. Guy store on N. Main at the night of Dec. 20.

Walls faces a two-year term for cashing a forged check for $150 drawn on the Farmers' National Bank of Plain City, O. The check, bearing the forged signature of C. B. Holycross, was cashed by the Houghton Sulky Co. of this city.

Extra guards accompanied both deputy sheriffs in taking the five men to the state prisons.

GOITRE NOT A DISEASE

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery

Milwaukee, Wis.—It has been brought to light by scientific research that goitre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. 609, Box 787, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The Doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. CONTINUED DRUG THEFTS CAUSE GREAT ANXIETY

London—Perpetual thefts of dangerous drugs from doctors are causing great anxiety to police headquarters at Scotland Yard.

Cars belonging to doctors are undoubtedly being continuously shadowed by a gang, and should the doctor leave his car unattended for a moment, anything contained in it is almost certain to be stolen, just on the chance that drugs may be therein.

In addition, many doctors' houses have been mysteriously robbed recently, and anything in the shape of drugs stolen.

Since the police tightened up the system, so that the smuggling of drugs into England from the Continent has become almost impossible, drug addicts have been ready to pay almost any price for the dope required.

DOCTORS SHOW HOW TO END BRONCHIAL COUGH

Worry Relieved When She Tries Hospital Tested Method in Her Own Home

No longer is it necessary to use needless guesswork in choosing the quickest and surest way to get rid of a deep seated cold, or even a cough caused by bronchitis. For a unique method now recommended by physicians has brought quick and lasting relief to numbers of Marion people who have used it in their homes.

Mrs. R. H. Gibbons, for instance, was treated for a severe cold complicated with bronchitis. Cough syrups had given her only temporary relief and she became so ill she was forced to quit work. Then, on the advice of her doctor she started taking double doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral—a concentrated mixture of wild cherry, white pine, glycerine, terpin hydrate and other ingredients which have relieved even the most extreme hospital cases.

Relief began with the first pleasant swallow. She felt its comforting, healing warmth as it penetrated through and through the irritated linings of her throat, chest and bronchial tubes. That night she slept for the first time in nearly a week without being awakened by coughing spells. In a day or so all traces of the cold had cleared up and in less than ten days the doctor reports, she was rid of her bronchial trouble.

Note: See other cases reported daily—all certified to this paper by the attending physician.

Doctors find that this hospital medicine does far more than stop coughing instantly. It penetrates and heals inflamed linings of the breathing passages. Absorbed by the system it quickly reduces phlegm, helps allay that "feverish" grippy feeling and drives out the cold from the nose passages, throat and chest.

Just a few pleasant spoonfuls of Cherry Pectoral now and you'll feel like a different person tomorrow. At all druggists, 60c; twice as much in $1.00 hospital size.

Less handicapped nowadays

New ideas on personal hygiene responsible, says doctor

THE DOCTOR in a leading women's college was comparing this generation of girls with those of 25 years ago.

"We don't have nearly so many illness excuses from girls nowadays", he said. "Not even at those times when there is perfectly good reason for their feeling below par. For one thing, girls have learned how important it is to keep their systems functioning normally at all times. And at times when they are most likely to be upset and thrown off balance, they take special measures".

What doctors advise girls to use on such occasions is Nujol—a spoonful every night for several days beforehand helps to keep everything normal even under abnormal conditions. For it contains absolutely no drugs or medicine. Perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey). Try this treatment for the next three months, and see if it doesn't make things much easier for you. You'll wonder how you ever did without it.

Be sure you get the genuine.

Chest Colds Need Direct Treatment

It is an obstinate cold indeed that can resist the direct double action of Vicks. Rubbed on the chest, it acts 2 ways at once:

(2) Direct, like a poultice, it "draws out" the soreness.

Hidden Qualities Determine the Life of Your Clothes

How may you be sure that good looking clothes will stand the real test of time and wear? Unless you are an expert judge of woolens and tailoring, some things must be taken on faith. You may safely depend upon clothes bearing this label—

RICHMAN'S CLOTHES

Woolens, linings, and all other materials used in Richman's Clothes are rigidly tested for tailoring and wearing qualities. Each detail of the hidden inner construction is as carefully tailored as the beautifully balanced and precisely stitched lapels, first to catch the eye. The linen canvas coat front, with its twenty shape-retaining and strength-giving parts, is cut and shaped to conform with the body—built up, piece by piece, with thousands of stitches and cross stitches to insure the lasting style and long life of the garment.

2500 happily contented workers, most of them Richman stockholders, safeguard quality in each of the 232 operations involved in making Richman's Clothes. The economies of scientific volume production, huge cash buying power, and direct from factory selling, make it possible for you to buy this outstanding quality at an amazingly low price.

HABITUAL carefulness may ... a boon to the tidy ... but there are times when ... handicap.

This was displayed this week ... the H. Schaffner Co. placed a fine rug on the sidewalk in front of its store on S. Main-st to display its wearing quality.

Scores of persons not wishing to soil the rug walked around it. This practice continued and the rug served as an obstacle to sidewalk traffic until a salesman grabbed a brush and a bucket of paint and in huge letters printed the following notice:

"WALK OVER IT."

NEWSPAPER accounts of a small pox epidemic and vaccination war between city health officials and an organization known as the Public School Protective League at Tulsa, Okla., have been received by Sanitary Commissioner Charles M. Tobin from Mrs. Esther Dickinson Watson, former clerk of the City Health Department, now a resident at Tulsa.

Organization of the league followed the death of a boy who had been vaccinated and whose death was laid to this cause by the league, but who died, physicians say, from pneumonia, aggravated by the taking of aspirin.

HERE'S one that was contributed as a "what-do-you-see" story.

A certain store in Marion wishing to call the public's attention to the wonderful bargains to be found in its place of business placed in its display window a sign with huge letters conveying this message:

"BIG SALE NOW GOING ON."

A passerby gazed at the sign, plunged a hand into his pocket, felt of the contents, reread the sign and made a dash for the door.

As he was about to enter he noticed a much smaller sign on the door. It read:

"Will be back at 2:15."

With more than an hour to wait the bargain hunter retraced his steps.

MINISTERS have their hobbies as well as other folks—as no one would believe after glancing at the Art Gravure Section of the Cleveland Plain Dealer of last Sunday. For in a conspicuous place at the top of an inside page is a picture of the Rt. Rev. William A. Leonard, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Ohio with his pet dog, "Laddie," and the credit line reads (this is where the minister's hobby comes in) Photo by Rev. I. F. Jones.

Reverend Jones, a former rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church and now located in Cleveland, has always been interested in photography and before leaving his native England for clerical work in this country, had been employed as a photographer.

The picture in question is just one of the numerous ones he has snapped of his friends, his subject this time having been a bishop.

THE following is what is purported to be the latest Ford story:

A man driving a Cadillac happened to glance into his rear vision mirror and noticed that he was being trailed by one of the new model Fords.

With a view of outdistancing the small car the Cadillac driver stepped on the gas. The big car went to 45 miles an hour. The Ford stayed right behind. The speed increased to 60 and the Ford still trailed.

Thinking to be done with the monkey business the Cadillac driver "tramped her down" and the big car shot up to 70. Still the Ford hung right to the rear.

While the driver of the big car was thinking it over the Ford pulled along side and its driver shouted:

"Hey, you! You're driving a gear shift car, how do you shift into high?"

A WIND is a wind and most folks accept it as a whimsy of a gruff postherman, but when it turns into a young cyclone and whisks the clothes off your back, fairly it's another matter. The story is current of a young woman who laundered in haste and repented at leisure and all on account of the wind. Wishing to wear a very lovely piece of lingerie, which she decided needed laundering, she proceeded to give it an exclusive bath and hung it near the window to dry. Returning to the room a short time later she found herself in the same predicament as the old lady of nursery book fame, for the chair was bare and the lingerie gone. To date no trace of the truant garment has been found.

The average cost of each American's trip to Europe, including passage, rail, hotel charges and spending money is in the neighborhood of $1,300.

One simply can't put the necessary enthusiasm into "setting up exercises" all the time, without some extra incentive, so Ritzy Rosey has donned one of those new exercise suits—knitted and gaily striped.

"WHISTLING LYD"

Matching her skill against the best moon drivers in the country "Whistling Lyd" Hutchinson of Ashton, Idaho, will compete in the big dogteam race in that city on Washington's birthday.

JERUSALEM'S NEW HOTEL FINEST IN NEAR EAST

Jerusalem—Jerusalem's sorely needed modern hotel is at last to become a reality. The owner of the Hotel Allenby, at present the best available in Jerusalem has begun on a new hotel which when completed, promises to be one of the first in the Near East.

"Consisting of two hundred rooms, Jerusalem's new hotel will be the last word in luxury and splendor," the prospectus just published cheerily announces. "Many innovations never before known in Palestine, will be introduced. Chief amongst these will be a central heating system designed especially to provide comfort to the tourists from America and Europe."

In keeping with the Oriental atmosphere of the city, the ballroom has been designed to resemble the interior of an Arabian palace of the time of Salah-ed-Din. The French cuisine is another feature.

Winter holidays to Europe are increasing so fast on account of reduced steamship and hotel rates that on some lines it is difficult to get a passage before Christmas as to get one before Independence Day in the summer.

Daily Proverb—"They have a short Lent that owe money to be paid at Easter."

The British censors have barred the Edith Cavelle film, Dawn. Even film censors are not without their virtues at times.

Apropos of Lent, almost anybody should be willing to admit, after two days of experimentation, that it's not so hard to be good.

The navy court of inquiry into the sinking of the S-4 appears to have held everybody more or less to blame for the tragedy, but chiefly Admiral Brumby for what it holds he doesn't know.

Having continued in active management of his business up to the week of his death, Theodore Cognacq, the wealthiest merchant of France and one of the greatest philanthropists of the French republic, is dead at eighty-nine. Just another example of the solid meat in the gospel of work.

Considering the castigation Federal Trade Commissioner Abram F. Myers gave Senator Walsh, of Montana, before the sub-committee of the senate judiciary committee, it's a bit hard to decide whether the commissioner's contempt of senatorial dignity will result in a life sentence or his beheading.

Of the perpetrators of the forty murders committed in Berlin last year, twenty-four committed suicide after their capture by the Berlin police, three were executed, four were given long prison terms and the other nine await trials. There's no discounting the thoroughness of German methods.

The Wright biplane has reached London and will at once be placed in a museum there. The first machine to make a flight has gone out of the United States because the Smithsonian institution has given the honor of making the first flight to a machine which didn't fly. Was it prejudice or bull-headedness on the part of the institution authorities?

The British government insists that it owns Thompson's Island, though it doesn't know where that island is. The probable explanation is that John Bull simply can not stand the idea of letting go of anything even though he may not know what or where the thing may be.

Now the wires tell us that the much heralded case against the former woman secretary of the state of New York "may flop," because she had the legal right to make the appointments by which the alleged illegal expenditures were incurred. It can hardly be held that the New York state authorities have been expeditious in becoming acquainted with the laws of their state in connection with the case.

Billboards as Beautifiers.

The plan of the local real estate board to erect billboards along the east line of the city lot at the intersection of Church and Prospect streets to do away with one of the city's worst eyesores is remindful of a suggestion made in these columns some time ago. The board's plan is to have the billboards constructed in part of lattice work over which vines could be run and sufficiently high to conceal entirely the rear views of Main street business places.

This paper's suggestion to the same end was that a lattice work over which vines could be grown should be constructed along both the east and north ends of the lot and that the property be beautified and utilized as a city breathing and resting place or fitted up properly with necessary toilet accommodations as a city parking place, our expressed preferance being for the former use.

Thus it is that this paper is committed to the plan of a vine-covered lattice work, but we can not say that we are enamored with the billboard idea. To us it looks like another case of a remedy worse than the disease. At a time when automobile clubs and state highway authorities are campaigning to do away with billboards along highways, it seems to us, it would be unseemly for the city fathers to grant billboard rights on city property within the business section of the city to an advertising company for such a term of years as would justify the erection of the boards. We have never been able to see billboards as assets in beautification, and we question whether our realtor friends so consider them. In any event, they are not erecting any in juxtaposition to their homes.

The fact is that the city lot is an eyesore in itself, regardless of the buildings to the east of it, and it will remain such till it 's properly maintained.

And while we are on the subject, it may not be amiss to call attention to the sidewalks abutting it. The one to the south is in miserable condition, a condition which would not be tolerated were it before a private property, and the condition in which both it and the walk to the west were left after this week's snowstorm was shameful. They easily afforded the worst footing in the uptown business section of the city.

Food Crisis in Russia.

That soviet Russia is facing a food crisis as a result of the boycott of the government by the peasants can no longer be questioned It is the customary course of the soviet leaders to deny all stories considered by them to be disadvantageous to what they denominate as their cause, attributing them to the prejudice of their "imperialistic" enemies, but they are estopped from so doing in this case by the fact that the press of Moscow got out of hand before the bolsheviki leaders took steps to suppress comment on the seriousness of the situation.

The crisis is not the result of crop failures, for the crops of the past year were heavier than those of the year before, but is due to the refusal of the peasants to sell their grain at the prices fixed by the government or exchange their products for the goods offered by the store-keepers throughout the land. The government, instead of sending to the government stores throughout the great grain-raising districts such stores as the peasants sought —sugar, tea, herring and other varieties of salted fish, calico and woolen goods—sent them in lieu of the goods ordered, alarm clocks, electric irons, radio parts, umbrellas and felt hats, satin Oxford pumps, cosmetics, silk neckties, nightshirts and pajamas. In a word, necessities were ordered and what the Russian peasants consider luxuries were sent. The result was that the peasants hid their grain away instead of delivering it at the trading centers.

So serious has become the situation that the papers of Moscow such as the Isvestia, the Pravda and the Molot are devoting pages to it. They voice the fading hope of filling the grain export program and admit that the Baltic states, which a few months ago were offered unlimited quantities of grain by the bolsheviki, are now placing grain orders in North and South America, and frankly state that the grain contracts signed with English and German concerns can not be filled. They also carry the announcement of the resignation of Alexander Petrovitch Smyrnov, commissar of agriculture, because of his failure to manage the grain-storing campaign, which fell 2,000,000 tons short of that of the previous year despite the increased harvest.

Instead of arresting and punishing the chairmen of the village soviets, which it considers a great mistake, the Molot holds the government should have arrested the leaders of the cooperatives—government chains of stores—and other state trading enterprises. "The directors are fools," the Molot says, "who should be classed as criminals, since their business activities consist in discrediting the government by attempting to sell the peasants luxuries which can not be sold in the cities because of the poverty of the workers."

There can be no getting away from the fact that the bolsheviki face a desperate situation. They can not fill their grain orders and thus realise the funds of which they are in need. Not only that, but the food supplies in all the larger cities and the most of the lesser ones are running low. The bolsheviki might take summary action against the peasants, but they hesitate to attempt that. The explanation is: there are only something like 1,000,000 bolsheviki and about 120,000,000 peasants, and the latter can not be exploited if they are exiled or killed.

Some people may incline to the view that the cigaret he had in his lips was the primary cause of the death of an Illinois man, who was instantly killed when he attempted to drive at high speed around a sharp curve while using both hands to light the cigaret, but our view is that the primary cause of the fatality was the grey matter he didn't have in his head.

New York Republicans, enthused by the splendid record made by Mr. Hughes as chairman of the American delegation to the Havana conference, are trying to get him to reconsider his stand against entering the race for the Republican presidential nomination. Well, there's been a lot of talk about "drafting" Mr. Coolidge. What is to estop the drafting of Mr. Hughes?

Vice President Charles Hadden Smith, of the American-Russian chamber of commerce, says there is no corruption in the soviet government of Russia because any official caught stealing government funds is taken out and shot. As they have stolen everything in Russia worth stealing, it's no more than natural that the Russian officials should insist upon "honor among thieves."

A son of the clerk of the Ohio supreme court has been sentenced to seventy days in jail for contempt of court upon his plea of guilty to the obtaining of money from students about to take bar examinations by representing that he could obtain passing grades for them. That may be punishment sufficiently severe for the fraud he worked on the law students, but it is hardly adequate punishment for his disgraceful conduct in taking advantage of the position held by his honest and upright father in working the fraud.

Walter E. Buel, Washington correspondent of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, told the Northern Ohio Alumni association of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity that war alone might cause President Coolidge to change his mind about another term. Mr. Coolidge has made a mighty good president, but a war certainly would be some awful price to pay to bring about a change of mind on his part. If Walter is right, we had better pass up Mr Coolidge, even though it bring grief to our good friend, Mr. Fess.

The principal attraction of the Eastern dog show being held in Boston is Princess Jacqueline, a dark brindle French bull, which talks. And it was not so long ago that we read a bit of fiction relating how a college boy, in hard luck financially, hit his uncle, a good sport, for $100 and got it, on the strength of his desire to have his bull dog taught to speak, and another hundred to educate him to converse in French. The fiction story admitted the impossibility of teaching a dog to talk. The wire story again shows truth to be stranger than fiction.

Cutting Teeth a Health Index.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

A good deal can be learned regarding the baby's growth and welfare by watching the teeth. The promptness of the cutting of the teeth is important.

The process and time of getting teeth is referred to by the doctors as the process or period of dentition. The average child is quite regular and systematic as regards the time and order of getting the teeth.

Sometimes there may be no sign of a tooth until the baby has gone several months past the usual time. This experience is called "delayed dentition."

Rickets is the chief cause for delay in cutting the teeth. However, in many healthy infants no teeth appear before the tenth month. We occasionally see the first tooth at thirteen months. This is true of children who seem perfectly healthy in every other respect.

On the other hand, it is not always true that teeth appear late in children with rickets. As a rule, the cutting of the teeth and hardening of the bones of the head go on together. If one is early the other is likely to be early or vice versa. Marked irregularities in dentition are common in children.

If the infant is well nourished and thrives properly for the first six or eight months, the teeth are steadily cut after this time. This is apt to be the case, even though the child may have chronic indigestion later, or suffer from extreme undernourishment from some other cause than rickets. If the bad health dates from birth, however, dentition is almost always delayed. It seems rather remarkable that some children who are markedly emaciated as a result of chronic indigestion, may cut their teeth regularly.

There are certain foods which carry the mysterious vitamins. Without them the child will not proper.

One of these vitamins is called "vitamin D." The lack of it is associated with rickets. Then the bones do not develop as they should and the teeth may not appear.

Cod-liver oil is richer in vitamin D than almost any other food. This is needed in delayed dentition.

Plenty of good milk, to which gelatin is added, will help. Sunlight is a great remedy, too. Exposure of the baby to the direct rays of the sun will help a lot.

Editorial Comment.

GREAT AMERICAN.

The United States has reason to feel very proud and grateful for the showing made at Havana by the nation's delegates to the Havana conference. Great strides forward have been taken in the direction of western continental amity and understanding. The strong men of the southern republics met with our own on friendly, earnest terms of accord and cooperation. It was the greatest session of the Pan American congress yet held. What was accomplished makes momentous history. Especially was it matter for felicitation that the United States and Brazil saw so nearly eye to eye with reference to the great questions and problems which came before the convention.

It is believed that in the recent session of the congress the position of the United States was made so plain that there can be hereafter no doubt concerning it. Particularly contributive to this end was the remarkable and outstanding work of Charles Evans Hughes, chairman of the American delegation, who won the confidence, respect and applause of the representatives of all the nations assembled at the Cuban capital.

Mr. Hughes more than justified the faith of this government and people in his address and abilities as a major spokesman with reference to the affairs of the Western hemisphere. He it was who stood up and answered every criticism of American policies, who presented the arguments of reason why this government and all the governments of the south should merge their destinies in so far as such union may be possible. His was the clear, incisive logic which dispelled the clouds and vapors of illegitimate suspicion and distrust of our national intent and policies. It was, perhaps, the triumph of the former great secretary of state's public career. Indissolubly knit with the history of his country now are the threads of his deeds and achievements at Havana; already they had been conspicuous, but it was in the late congress that they took on their brightest luster.

If America is great and clean and strong, if its relationships with the other nations of this hemisphere are unselfish and honorable and generous, protective and helpful—as we know them to be—Charles Evans Hughes deserves the credit of having convinced the southern nations of the truth of the fact. It is a pleasure to accord honor to so great an American.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

MR. BORAH CHANGES HIS MIND.

After listening to General LeJeune's report on Nicaraguan conditions for an hour, Senator Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the upper house, has decided to quit pressing his resolution calling for an investigation of the use of marines in the little Central American country, and acknowledges that merely by applying to a person who has some first hand knowledge and makes a non-political report, he and his committee have probably learned more than they could possibly learn through a public inquiry, which would be expensive, long drawn out, highly political, utterly needless, and generally harmful. Nor is this the first occasion upon which Mr. Borah has indulged in a vocal splurge about a Latin-American policy of the administration and then has pulled in his horns and changed his whole position after making a few simple inquiries. It is a great pity the senator can not learn to reserve his words and his judgments until he has something upon which to base them. If he would, he might become of some real use to the country in the position he holds.—Detroit Free Press.

Vagrant Verse.

A MEMORY OF EARTH.

In the wet dusk silver sweet,
Down the violet-scented ways,
As I moved with quiet feet
I was met by mighty days.

On the hedge the hanging dew
Glass'd the eve and stars and skies.
While I gazed a madness grew
Into thunder'd battle-cries.

Where the hawthorn glimmer'd white,
Flashed the spear and fell the stroke.
Ah, what faces pale and bright
Where the dazzling battle broke!

There a hero-hearted queen
With young beauty lit the van.
Gone! the darkness flowed between
All the ancient wars of man.

While I paced the valley's gloom,
Where the rabbits patter'd near,
Shone a temple and a tomb
With a legend carven clear:

"Time put by a myriad fates
That her day might dawn in glory:
Death made wide a million gates
So to close her tragic story."

—George William Russell.

Jules Verne.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

Jules Verne's originality forms his impenetrable armor against all detractors a number of whom have appeared now that the hundredth anniversary of his birth is being celebrated in all civilized countries

Some can never forgive this great story-teller for having ignored "the love element" in his irresistible narratives. But that was a sign of his originality. His contemporaries could not think of a story without a heroine. So he left all the heroines to them and concentrated his attention, and the interest of his readers, upon the heroes. Jules Verne preferred Achilles with Briseis, and considering the aim of his stories he was right, for what did Briseis do but spoil the hero of the "Iliad?" Verne did not permit Captain Nemo to be spoiled in that manner, and the great subterranean hero lived and died "in meditation free," presenting a sublime conception of self-sustaining independence that almost recalls the figure of Milton's Satan. Read again that last scene abroad the Nautilis in the story of "The Secret of the Island."

Some are at pains to point out that Verne had predecessors in his invention of imaginary methods and mechanisms of human locomotion that have since become realities, like the submarine, the dirigible, the automobile and so on. Of course he had, for these things and many others have been streaming through human dreams from times beyond record, but none of these predecessors was able to strike his gait. None electrified the world with "Journeys:" "From the Earth to the Moon," and "To the Center of the Earth," and "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," and "Across Africa in a Balloon," and "Around the World in Eighty Days," and "In a Steam House," and on "A Giant Raft," and "To the North Pole," and to Siberia with "Michael Strogoff," every one of the journeys being to the reader so realistic, vivid, captivating that he forgot its imaginative foundation, willingly accepted the hero for a real personage, and gladly joined company with him and followed him breathless in his adventures.

It has been affirmed also that Jules Verne's writing lacked perfection of literary style, so that although the French academy was forced by the popular acclaim of these wonderful productions to bestow its crown of merit upon them, yet the "Forty Immortals," a little ridiculous in their stiff self-admiration, would not admit the author to fellowship with their lofty selves.

The fact is that Verne wrote sound, accurate, grammatical, and idiomatic French, superior in lucidity and carrying power to much of the product of the academicians, and excellently suited to his subjects. If there had ever been an English academy—the darling dream of Matthew Arnold—it would in like manner have shut its doors on John Bunyan, and perhaps on Daniel Defoe, and even, it is not improbable, on Charles Dickens—though forced, in each case, by public sentiment to recognize the greatness of their works.

Verne is said to have been hurt by his exclusion from the academy, but how trifling a matter that seems amidst the blaze of his reputation, which rekindles a little, each time that some new triumph of practical science recalls the memory of the prophetic vision with which he surveyed the world of the near future, and helped to prepare for it by projecting some of its coming heroes upon the morning clouds.—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Feb. 23—Manhattan offers magnificent bluff in strange ways. It has the value of a "front" and acquires it. The bane of the art galleries are those prospective purchasers who secure fine paintings for inspection and return them after a part. Dealers in expensive Oriental rugs frequently spread elegant wares for the eye to be tricked in the same fashion. Likewise silversmiths and bric-a-brac merchants contribute to the ensemble and add the panoply of wealth to those who haven't it.

Auto agencies are wheedled into submitting cars on approval, furnished with chauffeurs, to be used with an air of proprietorship in impressing others. Designing mothers and marriageable daughters lead the field in this hocus-pocus.

The bride of an English officer stationed in India recently came to grief over her honeymoon deception in New York. The officer had married the girl in Bermuda and came to New York for a two-day stay. The mother rented a suite a day suite in the finest hotel for this occasion.

She filled in with "on approval" jewelry and rare objects de art, and the officer was met at the dock by one of the grandest of the imported demonstration cars. He was particularly impressed, and a whirlwind courtship resulted in the girl returning to the British East as his wife.

Two months later the husband found that his bride was penniless and that her mother was an operative in a beauty parlor A separation followed, with a divorce impending The mother's parental zeal in New York four-flushing has resulted in many disastrous episodes

There is a type of amiable and gentle gentleman who has disappeared from New York. That is the professional Southerner." He was always about in days of the Knickerbocker Nights and Considine's, wearing the wide planter hat, Prince Albert coat, boiled shirt and black lavalliere. He styled himself "Colonel," simulated a rich drawl, and had a capacity for liquor that downed it raw. His condition was always decidedly mellow. He was, of course, a fake but a pleasant one, and deference to him was marked. The advantages he took of his fellows were trifling—a few free drinks and cigars and a dollar here and there so he would not have to break a hundred dollah bill, and in exchange he gave a congenial companionship. Most of the "professional Southerners" were born New Yorkers and had never been south of the Mason-Dixon line.

* * *

The passing of the professional Southerner came with the birth of the speakeasy. When drinks a dollar, and often two dollars, a certain people were not so generous in "Have one" nods to loungers. The charm of these pseudo aristocrats was in their boastful knowledge of good liquor and their discussion of it. To them with present-day varnish is like praising the Armenian massacre or something.

Shopping for Coffins.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

It seems a gruesome thing, on the face of it, to choose your own coffin long before you die. Few western people even think of doing in a very personal way. It is true that years Sarah Bernhardt carried about with her on her tours an elaborate and ornate coffin. She, however, is the flaming exception to the almost universal rule. But in Manchuria, where people purchase their own coffins long before even illness threatens. Just as western people go "window shopping" for frocks, hats, jewelry, so do the Manchurians shop for their coffins.

But in spite of what to us are strange customs, the Manchurians are fast acquiring western civilization. A great railroad has had much to do with this change. And it is an odd contrast to see the great light and power lines stretched out over the odd little shops which have existed for centuries, and which still have their grotesque signs and demon preventers supposed these hundreds of years have warded off the evil spirits.

All along the line of the great railroad small towns have sprung up, strangely resembling the mushroom towns which suddenly appear along an American railroad.

Central Labor Union Plans Survey to Aid City Council In Drafting Building Code

Committee Instructed To Confer with Labor Leaders in Other Cities Having Inspectors with View To Offering Suggestions on Local Project

Agreeing with the Marion Real Estate Board that Marion needs a building code and an inspector to enforce it, the Marion Central Labor Union at its meeting last night instructed H. K. Lippart, secretary, and a special committee to confer with labor organizations in other cities where inspectors are employed with a view to aiding the city in the enactment of such a measure.

The special committee will draft a report of its survey and offer it to City Council, it was announced.

Addresses by two out-of-town speakers featured the meeting last night. Louis Valvano, acting general chairman of the International Association, Machinists' Union, of Union City, N. J., and John A. Marvin, secretary and treasurer and general chairman of the Boilermakers' Union, District No. 8 of Binghampton, N. Y., addressed the group.

Here To Form Union

Both men, who are in Marion in the interest of their crafts, and to further the organization of Shop Crafts Union at the Erie roundhouse cited the willingness of the Erie management in meeting committees of union workers. There is no objection on the part of the Erie to the formation of this organization, it was stated by both speakers.

According to a report submitted at the meeting last night, all Erie shops east of Marion, including the plants at Hornell, N. Y., and Meadville, Pa., are completely organized.

Arrangements were made for a special meeting to take in new members to be held at Marion Central Labor Union hall this afternoon. Tonight an all-craft meeting will be held at the hall with addresses by Mr. Valvano and Mr. Marvin.

Discuss Politics

Following a brief discussion of the political situation in the United States the union went on record favoring a non-partisan policy, voting only for those who have proved that the interests of all the people is above the selfish demands of a few.

It was announced that all meetings of Central Labor Union are open to the public. All persons interested in labor activities are being urged to attend the next meeting which has been set for March 14 at labor hall.

When Your Night's Rest Is Broken

You complain when your night's rest is broken and you can't sleep because of bladder weakness. It's time to send to yourself and the quicker you do it the better for you. Get a bottle of Marshroot—it's a scientific medicine and if it doesn't help you, get your money back—we stand back of it. No doubt it will help you in other ways, too—more energy—more pep—ambition. Meditations OF A Married Woman

BY HELEN ROWLAND

TO a woman, love is a triumph and marriage a victory; to a man love is a defeat, and marriage a surrender.

• • •

Half a love is better than none: indeed in the opinion of most men, it is better than a whole lot.

• • •

Man cannot live without woman: He can always find another man who will listen sympathetically to his troubles, but only a woman who loves him will sit all evening and actually rejoice while he talks about his triumphs.

• • •

Petting is the direct result of the low-rate of present-day intelligence. When two heads are perfectly vacant, they just naturally droop together—and petting fills the vacuum.

• • •

"There is always a blonde in a man's life"—until some Titian-haired woman decides to push her out of it. A blonde is just an "innocent bystander" when a red haired woman gets started!

• • •

A woman can spend a whole week at her mirror, and never attain the sweet, innocent, kissable look that a man has in his evening clothes, just after a bath and a shave. But, alas, the average wife sees her husband in his evening clothes only about a dozen times a year—and the rest of the time her love has to live on memory!

• • •

The modern youth spends half his time in "hating women"—and the other half in taking their telephone numbers.

• • •

A really sick man is one who doesn't even know whether his nurse is a blonde or a brunette. A dying man, is one who doesn't care!

• • •

It isn't a question of finding a girl who can be kissed, these days, but of where to find one who doesn't INSIST on it.

Doctor's Discovery Relieves Much Unnecessary Suffering

IT has been proven conclusively that much of the suffering experienced during expectancy, as well as at childbirth, is entirely unnecessary.

Dr. Holmes' discovery, "Mother's Friend," aids the muscles and tissues to expand more easily, month after month, right up to the climax of child-birth!

Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., writes: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used "Mother's Friend" and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

Start using Mother's Friend tonight—the sooner the better and write for free booklet on "Things to Know Before Baby Comes" (sent in plain envelope). Mother's Friend is sold by all drug stores. Bradfield Regulator Co., Desk 21, Atlanta, Ga.

"Two Stolen Idols"

A Story of Love and Adventure

CHAPTER 31

P[illegible]APS another minute passed, then, feeling out before him [illegible]e to a guarded summons, [illegible]gsley found that two boards [illegible] forced apart angle-wise from [illegible]ool—and, crawling on all fours, [illegible]eed through the opening. The [illegible]ment the boards were pushed [illegible] again into, apparently, their [illegible] position, he was picked up by [illegible]s of the two men from the [illegible]ed swiftly across the inner [illegible]pen space, and a moment [illegible] was set down again amongst [illegible]s.

"[illegible] Tuan, we have brought tois," [illegible]whispered—and, unrolling a ham[illegible]spread it out upon the ground. [illegible]ll have been hard to carry the [illegible] who could not put his arms [illegible] our necks and balance himself, [illegible]e could have gone but slowly. [illegible] the veranda of the house where [illegible]s still remains a third, Nanu, and [illegible]s him, took two—one for the [illegible] and one for the white woman.

"Now, Tuan, the man answered, "when Nanu returned to us, the white woman was sitting beneath a tree near us, and near to the spot where she had been taking Tuan. It was but the task of a child, and it was quickly done, O Master. Nanu came behind her, and flung his coat, which he had taken off, over her head, and then, that there might be no outcry, he tied a piece of cloth upon her mouth."

"Damn!" said Bob Kingsley through gritted teeth; and then, with a curious shrug of his shoulders: "Oh, well—all right! There was no other way, of course! Let's carry on now! There's no time to waste."

"Yes, Tuan," the man replied. "But first, take this, O Master!" He thrust a revolver into Bob Kingsley's hands. "Nanu brought it from the Alita this morning, and one other for himself. There were no more to be found. Tuan, though we made search in the Tuan's cabin. And here, too, are more bullets if there be need for them. See, I will put the bullets in Tuan's pocket for him."

"Right!" said Bob Kingsley, as the two men, one at each end, swung the hammock to their shoulders. "But what about Kafan?"

"Tuan," grinned Tifu, "Kafan's story will be long, for he has much to tell the fool who watched at the Tuan's door. When the tale is at an end, Kafan will follow us, and because he will travel faster than we who carry the Tuan, he will overtake us before the Alita is reached."

For the first time Bob Kingsley chuckled.

"You're a priceless crowd—the lot of you!" he applauded. "I shan't forget this. Carry on!"

A half hour passed, and in the darkness the going was far from easy, for, save for a few open spaces here and there that they were obliged to traverse, the two Malays kept to the woods. And then the moon came out, and its lights, filtering through the branches, caused Bob Kingsley to be less rudely and less frequently bumped against the tree trunks, and the two Malays to stumble less frequently in the entangling undergrowth.

At times Tifu and Nissan laid the hammock down on the ground for a moment or two to rest—and at these moments Bob Kingsley cursed fervently the irons that made of him a helpless burden and impeded progress. But for the most part, he had lain there silently in the hammock, engaged in listening as tensely as he had listened a little while ago in the shed. He had not been much concerned with the chance of any alarm being raised by the native servants around the house—Verna might walk in the woods for an hour, or two hours, if she cared, without any thought of her entering their heads. They were not in the habit of questioning the comings and goings of white people! It was Richardson's return from the beach where the Mongtah had gone down on the Rusa Reef that he had feared. Richardson would hardly stay there after dark—perhaps not that long, for it was a two hours' return journey to Aora. On the one hand, Richardson might not be back for an hour or more yet; on the other, if Richardson had started from the beach before the light failed he might be expected to reach the house at any moment. Therefore, he, Bob Kingsley, had been constantly on the qui vive from the moment he had begun his flight. But now, with the moon up and better progress being made, and already far from Aora, he was relieved to a large extent. He had heard nothing to indicate that Verna had been missed or his own escape discovered, and there had certainly been no sound of pursuit.

Still another half hour passed—and then suddenly Tifu halted.

"Tuan," he said, "we are almost at the cliff, but we have come more quickly than Nanu, for he is only a little way in front of us, and he has heard us, and is coming to us now. Also, Tuan, some one comes after us from behind, who, because there is the step of only one man, and because he runs swiftly, can be no other than Kafan."

Bob Kingsley nodded.

"Good enough!" he said heartily—but the next instant his complacency was suddenly and rudely shattered.

Nanu and Kafan arriving from opposite directions at almost the same moment, were standing beside him—and Kafan burst at once into fierce, excited speech, panting out his words, gasping for his breath. Bob Kingsley could not understand all the man said; he was no master of the Malay tongue, and, besides, the man's speech was labored now and broken—but he caught the gist of it: As Kafan had crossed a small, open moonlit space a short distance behind, he had looked back and seen the figures of several men, who had apparently been following him, dodge back among the trees. Up to that time, Kafan explained, he had not been traveling fast, for he knew that Tifu could be overtaken without effort, but after that he had run until the wind was out of his body that he might bring warning to the Tuan.

Bob Kingsley was sitting erect now in the hammock. And now his questions came with the rapidity and staccato-like snap of machine-gun fire:

"Could you see who they were? Were they natives from the campong? Were they white men? Or were there white men among the natives?"

"Tuan," Kafan answered in Malay, "one only I saw well, for shadows hid the others. But the one I saw was the fellow man with the nose that is not straight, who steered the boat in which the Tuan and I, Kafan, with him, came from the ship."

"My God! Chen-shu!" The words came from Bob Kingsley in a single breath. The man had lost no time! Here was a grim enough justification for what he, Bob Kingsley, had done that night! It was apparent now that it had obviously been little more than the flip of a coin whether Chen-shu or Nanu would get Verna first. Chen-shu must have discovered that Verna was gone; then, possibly, seeing Kafan near the shed, and possibly discovering that he, Bob Kingsley, had escaped, Chen-shu, knowing that Kafan and he, Bob Kingsley, had been together in the boat, had put two and two together and had followed Kafan. Yes, that was it! In details it might be inaccurate, but in the main it could not be any other way. The mind works swiftly—there scarcely seemed to have been a pause since he had first spoken. "Quick!" he ordered. "Go on, Tifu! Nanu, show us the way to where you left the others, but keep beside me so that I can talk to you!"

The hammock started forward again—the bearers breaking into a jog-trot that was as near a run as they could accomplish.

"Nanu," said Bob Kingsley crisply, "according to Kafan, the Chinamen that seek Miss Lyle are close behind us, and, if they can help it, they will not let us escape. How far is it exactly from here to the Alita, and what is this cliff that you and Tifu talk about?"

"The Alita lies a quarter of a mile at sea below the cliff, Tuan," Nanu answered; "and what the cliff is, the Tuan will now see for himself, for we are almost there. We were already among the trees just at the edge of the cliff where the path leads downward to the beach, when we heard the Tuan coming, and so we waited there."

"It sounds to me, then, that they could rake us with shot from the head of the path or from the top of the cliff on either side!" exclaimed Bob Kingsley grimly.

"From the head of the path, perhaps," replied Nanu quickly, "though it turns many times and is very steep. But from the top of the cliffs, no, Tuan. On neither side can the beach be seen, for the beach is very narrow and the cliffs recede far backward, and I do not think any place could be found where a man could crawl outward upon the sloping ledges to fire downward upon the beach. It is a strange place, Tuan, for the way down is but a twisted crack in the walls of rock, as though at some great trembling of the earth the walls had been split apart. It is very dangerous and very hard to travel, Tuan, and there are places where, if a man fell, he would never speak again."

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Humorous Boyhood Adventure

By JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

TODAY was Thursday and tomorrow is Friday, and then we will have Saturday. It was colder when I let Jubilee down out of the window by the rope in his teeth. It wasn't offal cold, but just cold enough so that everything was froze, and so that Jubilee hated to be tooken out of bed and let down out of a window so that his bunsel lit on some thin ice and broke through into a little puddle of ice water. Almost anyone would. A dog is almost human that way.

When I had got the dummed brutes milked and had fed my face we went past Younisses to call for her and Maggie and Feeble were there and they hollered for us to come in, so we went in. Younisses mother was upstairs taking a bath whilst Younisa got ready to go to school. Women always take a bath when they are going out to spend the day, because, as Younisses mother says, in these days of automobiles you cannot tell what will happen before you get home again. I would hate to be a woman and have to wash all over when I started out to spend the day, because I start out every morning and spend the day somewhere. I have been doing that ever since I was born, and that is quite a while. Just as we were going out the front door her mother hollered at her that the water wasn't warm and to look at the heater. Younisa hollered back that the heater was got burning. Then her mother hollered at her to keep away from it, and she came downstairs wearing Younisses father's bathrobe. She looked at the heater and said, "The pilot light has went out." She got a match and scratched it and stuck it in the heater, and I don't rightly know what happened after that, because something went "Bloom!" and Younisses mother went backwards acrosst the room and sot down on a chair and then the chair went over backwards and when she got up her face was black and her eyebrows and eyelashes were swinged off. When she looked at herself in the glass she began to laugh and said it was a good thing for everyone concerned that she had Younisses father's bath robe tied tight around her waist. Then she laughed and laughed and laughed. Younisa telephoned for her father and got her mother to lie down and told us to go to school without her. When we were going out of the door her mother had begun to cry. I was sorry I couldn't stay and do something for Younis, but I didn't know what to do. I bet Younisses mother won't be so crasy about a bath after this.

I played checkers with my grandfather after supper and he has been me but it didn't get me anything.

Love at first sight is nearly always exploded; and the beloved one hardly ever knows that his or her fate is decided then and there.

Love's Embers

A Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Katie Takes Charge

I LAUGHED at Lillian's prediction of the stuffed, torpid condition which would be the lot of all the partakers of the "pirate steak" dinner which was to be the chief feature of our beach party. But I knew that her prophecy was not a greatly exaggerated one, and that the members of the anticipated group who had begun the day's enjoyment by swimming, canoeing and lunching at the bay, and who had then driven to our favorite camping place upon the ocean beach, would be valiant trenchermen at the camp dinner, which our family at least considers the most appetizing of all outdoor meals.

The spot to which we brought our guests is a wide stretch of wonderful white sandy beach with curving high dunes at the back and sides, making an ideal shelter. It is so far from the bathing beaches and the beaten track that we are almost always assured of privacy and in the lee of one of the dunes we have piled stones and bricks for use in our outdoor cookery.

Katie, with the tremendous responsibility of her office as director of the feast heavy upon her, gave the pile of stones an anxious inspection when we reached the spot.

"Good ting I brought me some extra bricks," she muttered. "Some goot for noting boonch sop greens, steal some of dese."

No one ventured to dispute her, although we were amusedly skeptical of her accusation of theft of the worthless bricks and stones. But those of us who have partaken of the pirate steaks which Katie, with the aid of "d' Jeem," her good-natured patient, and wonderfully efficient husband, has served to us, how to her skill and holding our breaths do not venture to irritate her while the meal is in progress.

"Goot ting lots of young mans here," Katie said next, causing a speculative eye upon Dicky, young Jackson and Noel Verlizen. "Me, I needs lots of wood."

"Why don't you say me, Katie?" Junior demanded excitedly. "I always carry lots of driftwood, you know I do."

"Sure ting," she responded, beaming at him. "You get best kind vor Katie likes. But 'coom now eferybody, make eet snappy. I vant first batch of wood here in five—ten mennits. Den you go back for some more."

I wondered if Lillian caught as I did the startled glance which Eleanor Lincoln sent young Mr. Jackson, and the arching eyebrows of his returning look. It was an exchange of glances which set the two apart some way, subtly betrayed that this rustic merry-making with everybody gathering driftwood at the behest of a serving maid, was something absolutely beyond their experience and understanding.

But beyond that first involuntary exchange of glances, they let no hint of their surprise escape them, and the next minute saw Dicky, Junior, Marion, Mary, Miss Lincoln and young Mr. Jackson racing down the beach in search of the driftwood which is the first requisite for our beach dinners.

"How about it, Phil?" Lillian challenge as she and I came up to the chair and umbrella which Otto, under his master's direction was arranging in the shelter of a dune for Mother Graham. "Are you going to renew your youth by gathering driftwood with me?"

Getting Up Nights

For Bladder Relief, In Nature's Danger Signal, Columbus Minister's Wife Relates Experience

Rev. W. H. Mitchell, 824 No. Park St., Columbus, Ohio, says in his own home paper, the Columbus Dispatch: "My wife was troubled seriously with bladder irritation until we used Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula). She had to get up 6 to 8 times each night. Will gladly answer any letter."

Lithiated Buchu acts on the bladder as salts do on the bowels. Drives out foreign matter and decreases excessive acidity, thereby relieving irritation. The tablets cost 2c each at all drug stores. Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at Carl G. Ungericht, Druggist.—Adv.

Infant Care

No mother in this enlightened age would give her baby something she did not know was perfectly harmless and reliable, especially when a few drops of plain Castoria will right a baby's stomach and end almost any little ill throughout the system. Fretfulness and fever, too; it seems no time until everything is serene.

That's the beauty of Castoria; its gentle influence seems just what is needed. It does all that castor oil might accomplish, and without shock to the system. Without the evil taste. Castoria is delicious! Your own tongue will tell you why "Children Cry for It." Being purely vegetable, you can give it as often as there's the least sign of colic; constipation; diarrhea. Or whenever there's need to aid sound, natural sleep.

Only one word of warning: the above is true of genuine Castoria. Fletcher's is the original. Other preparations may [illegible] not be as pure, as free from a single doubtful drug. Physicians tell parents to get Fletcher's Castoria, and no child of this writer's is going to take any other kind. I'll save a dime some other way.

*SPECIAL NOTE: With every bottle of genuine Fletcher's Castoria is wrapped a book on "Care and Feeding of Babies" worth its weight in gold to every mother or prospective mother.

Broadway Sets New Hair Vogue

"So many girls in my crowd are talking about the new way they're doing their hair, I just had to try it," says Miss Dorothy Connor, 737 Bergen Street, Brooklyn, attractive secretary for a prominent New York City business man. "You've no idea how silky and gleaming it makes your hair. And I don't have to shampoo mine more than once a month, now. Danderine keeps is so clean. All you do is get a few dashes of it on your brush every time you use it. It makes your scalp feel just grand. Your hair is less easier to dress, and it stays in place wonderfully."

You won't wonder at the [illegible]ing way millions of girls are showing their approval of Danderine, when you use it. It quickly removes that oily film from your hair, brings out its gleaming color, gives it lustre. It dissolves dandruff, cleanses, tones and stimulates your scalp. All drug stores have the big 35c bottle. A fragrant necessity for the well-groomed girl—[illegible]

OPERA STARS TO BE HE ARD ON BLUE NETWORK

BENIAMINO GIGLI LUCREZIA BORI GUISEPPE DE LUCA

FOR the first time in radio history three stars of the Metropolitan Opera Company will be heard on the air in a condensed version of a famous opera, when, on Friday night, Feb. 24, at 10 o'clock, the Victor Talking Machine Co. broadcasts the fourth concert of its 1928 series from WJZ, New York, and associated stations. In this program Lucrezia Bori, soprano; Beniamino Gigli, tenor, and Giuseppe DeLuca, baritone, supported by the Victor Symphony Orchestra directed by Rosario Bourdon, will be heard in scenes from Verdi's "La Traviata," one of the most popular works of the great Italian composer.

In the Victor version of "La Traviata," the plot of which is based on Dumas' "Camille," Mme. Bori will sing the role of Violetta, a Parisian courtesan. She is loved by Alfredo (Mr. Gigli), whose father, Germont (Mr. DeLuca), begs her to give up his son, since association with her is retarding the youth's career. Because of her love for Alfredo, Violetta agrees and is publicly discredited by her lover. Later, when he learns of her great sacrifice, Alfredo returns only to find her dying.

The music of the opera, brilliant throughout, has always been considered a test for coloratura singers and many of the great sopranos have added to their fame by singing it.

EVANS PULLS MASKS OFF KLAN MEMBERS

Waves Imperial Wand and K. K. K. Becomes Knights of Great Forest

Washington, Feb. 23—"The klan is dead—long live the klan!"

Such was the general interpretation placed today upon the edict of Hiram W. Evans, unmasking the wearers of the white robe, and setting up in place of the old hooded order a new organization to be known as the Knights of the Great Forest.

The practical effect of the imperial ukase is to do away with the mask and continue the old klan under the new designation. There will be three "degrees" in the Knights of the Great Forest, Klansman, Knights of Kamelia, and Knights of the Great Forest.

Evans explained in a statement accompanying the imperial edict that the abolition of the mask had been in contemplation and in process of being worked out for several years. The klan, he said, had accomplished the first phase of its growth and development, and was now ready to enter the second phase. This first phase, he said, which had now been completed was to support and foster restricted immigration, the second phase is to work for the assimilation of aliens into American life.

Opponents of the klan, however, advanced other reason for the revolutionary changes prescribed by the wizard. They pointed out that the klan is in ill repute in many parts of the country, that wearing masks has now been forbidden by statute in many states, and even in those states where there is no law on the subject popular sentiment has opposed the hoods.

Also, it was pointed out, membership in the klan has been steadily dropping for months past, due to a variety of causes. Some revolutionary change was necessary to attract new members, as the old hooded order was unable to gain any converts.

The dignity of truth is lost with much protesting.—Ben Jonson.

Cleveland Woman Gives Thanks to Redwood's Tepee Herb Tonic

In the following statement, Miss Agnes Mesker, 11216 Clifton Blvd., Cleveland, Ohio, tells about the remarkable recovery of her sister from a complete nervous breakdown for which she credits Redwood's Tepee Herb Tonic.

REDWOOD

Miss Mesker says: "My sister had a complete nervous breakdown, and although she tried almost every kind of medicine, she didn't seem to respond to anything before she took Redwood's Tepee Herb Tonic.

"After taking six bottles of Redwood's Tepee Herb Tonic, she looked and felt like a different woman. The results were marvelous. Her appetite was better and she didn't need to resort to the use of laxatives.

"I am also taking the tonic for my general health and I have several friends who are taking it. It is doing all of us good. I can specially note that it has helped my stomach and bowels."

Tepee Tonic is sold and recommended by Bradley's, Henney & Cooper's, Wm. M. Stump, Bartlett's and all drug stores. Richwood, H. D. Kyle and Lower's Drug Store.—Adv.

WILLIS TALKS

Reviews His Previously Announced Policies at Youngstown

Youngstown, Feb. 23—In his first public address since the battle for Ohio's delegates to the Republican national convention between him and Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover started, Senator Frank B. Willis reviewed his previously announced policies for law observance, and against further reduction or cancellation of foreign debts and against foreign alliances, at the American Legion Washington's Birthday celebration here last night.

"George Washington was right in warning against the insidious wiles of foreign influence," Willis told his audience.

In regard to foreign debts, Willis declared that "this country has gone us far as it ought to."

"The clamor for modification of the debt settlements and, in certain instances, for final cancellation, will not be favorably received by the American people," Willis said. "Further reduction of the foreign debt or cancellation of it would be a crime against American tax-payers."

Senate Coal Probers in Pennsylvania To Investigate Conditions of Miners; Charges Hurled by Union and Operator

Pittsburgh Battle Sector Stretches Fan-Like About Smokey City

MUCH SUFFERING FOUND

General Inquiry into Situation on Today's Program of Solons

Pittsburgh, Feb. 23—16 Senate Coal Committee came to Pennsylvania today to inspect the chief battleground in the bitter economic war being waged between the soft coal miners and operators.

The battle has been on since last April when union miners laid down their tools after the operators declined to renew the minimum wage agreement of $7.50 a day. The sharpest fighting has centered in the Pittsburgh district. Here are located the largest bituminous coal producers in the country. These operators, declaring they cannot buck the low-wage competition in the open shop mines south of the Ohio River in West Virginia and Kentucky, have imported thousands of non-union laborers to keep production going.

No end of the clash is in sight. Operators here declare they won't negotiate with the union if they aren't promised a wage reduction. Miners' officials retorted they will not retreat an inch, or compromise one penny.

In Valleys and Hills

The Pittsburgh battle sector stretches fan-like around the outer reaches of the city. The mines and camps, dirty and desolate, nestle in the valleys and sprawl in pattern-less shape on the break, wind-swept, winter-gripped hills that overlook the sluggish Allegheny and Monongahela Rivers. The general picture is heavy with deep shadows, for men are figuratively at each other's throats in the grim business of eking out an existence.

As in all strife there are wounds and suffering, so in this one there is no exception. The victims are chiefly the women and children of the striking miners. They have stuck with their men folk in what they regard not only as a deadly serious battle for a principle, but for a decent living wage.

Operators admit the strike has brought hardships and suffering and deprivations, but say they can do nothing about it so long as the union persists in refusing even to talk about a lower wage.

Charge Gunmen Hired

Union officials go further. They charge the coal companies with employing "professional gunmen" who serve as coal and iron police under commission from Pennsylvania. They have prepared for the committee numerous affidavits telling of alleged "brutalities, atrocities and outrages against decency" committed by these people and by strike breakers.

Non-union workers, a large portion of them southern negroes, live in quarters maintained by the companies. These camps are closely guarded by police and, in many instances, the camps are surrounded by high fences to prevent strike breakers from leaving or pickets from entering.

Most of the 45,000 striking miners here have had to shift for themselves, although the union provided barracks for about 12,000 in western and central Pennsylvania. These barracks are built of unpainted pine boards. The wind whistles through them. Whole families, and it is not uncommon for a miner's family to run to 10 or 12 children, huddle in one or two rooms. Over each barrack a bright American flag flaps in the breeze.

Gooding Heads Group

General investigation of the conditions surrounding both strikers and non-union workers was mapped out here today by the committee, which is headed by Senator Gooding, Republican of Idaho. Oother members are Senator Pine of Oklahoma and Metcalf of Rhode Island, Republicans, and Wheeler of Montana and Wagner of New York, Democrats.

One of the first to meet the committee today was Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers, director of the union's fight here. He was accompanied by P. T. Fagan, president of the local union district.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—Adv.

FURTHER PLANS LAID FOR OHIO P-T CONVENTION

Four Committees Named To Assist in Preparing for Meeting March 8

Further arrangements for the annual convention of the Ohio Parent-Teacher Association to be held at Central High School auditorium March 8 were made yesterday when W. [illegible], principal of the school, appointed four committees of teachers to assist in decorating the school for the convention and preparing for entertainment of the delegates.

A committee comprised of Miss [illegible] Knepp, chairman, Mrs. Caro[illegible] Brothers, Misses Golda Van Buskirk and Ella Mears, will have charge of the ninth grade girls who will act as guides and ushers to the delegates and will direct making of suitable costumes for the students to wear in that capacity.

Hall decorating will be in charge of Miss Effie Oliphant, chairman, Mrs. Emma Bondley, Misses Marjorie Eymon and Helen Roby and Cecil Gabler, while a committee consisting of Miss Nell Freer, chairman, Misses Opal Donithen, Ruth Lukens, Hazel Hochstetter and A. A. Wise, will direct decorating of the platform.

School Displays

School displays will be under supervision of a committee consisting of Misses Anna Parks, Grace Kelvin, and Edith Keeler, O. C. Ice and E. J. Beer.

In addition to the ninth grade girls who have been selected to act as guides and ushers for the convention eight Boy Scouts to be chosen by Scout Executive W. C. Brown will be stationed throughout the halls.

The girls who will assist during the day are Helen Lewis, Marguerite Van Atta, Virginia Walterhus, Mildred Seas, Lillian Noyes, Helen Cross, Geraldine Scranton, Louise Obenour, Louise Adams, Clara Fields, Imogene Lett, Reba Wilson, Mary Thompson, Leota Click, Ilga Granger, Irene Riddle, Margaret Gessler, Verna Babcock, Nellie Roberts, Hildegarde Wanner, Dorothy Oliphant, Neva Burtch, Catherine Holdridge, Mildred Courtney, Zelma Bird, Geraldine Everett, Mary Ann Curtis, Beulah Ault, Martha McKeever, and Violet Kreuger.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found how to save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for results. It gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

REPORT LINDY WILL HEAD NEW AIR LINE

Famous Flier in Conference with Lanphier and Business Men

Tuesday quoted Lanphier's announcement of plans for a new Chicago-New York air line via Detroit, Buffalo and Ithaca, N. Y.

Lanphier was quoted as saying the present Bellefonte-Cleveland route is not as safe as the proposed new route which though longer would have 70 per cent better weather.

"Whether the company now operating reroutes its planes or not, there will soon be a new company operating over the new route," Lanphier declared in an address before an aircraft luncheon of the Greater Buffalo Advertising Club.

Asked if Edsel Ford was interested in this proposed new route and that he and Lindbergh intended to see Ford about it today, Lanphier replied:

"I don't wish to say anything."

The party who flew from St. Louis with Lindbergh in a Ryan monoplane included: H. M. Bixby, president of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce; Harry K. Knight, president of the St. Louis Flying Club; Frank H. Robertson, head of the Robertson air mail contracting firm and B. F. Mahoney, president of the Ryan Air Lines, Inc., all backers of the "Lone Eagle" in his epochal flight across the Atlantic.

To avoid the presence of crowds Lindbergh is keeping secret the time and place where he will probably see his mother, Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, today.

way tracks is approximately $70,000 a mile, Mr. Van Deinse states. This means that it would cost $420,000 to build the six miles of track which make up the local system.

Offers Tracks

As evidence of the company's firm belief that the lines can not be operated profitably, Mr. Van Deinse says that the C., D. & M. is ready and willing to give the tracks to any one who wishes to take over the franchise.

Development and growth of automobile transportation is the primary cause of street railway companies being unable to furnish service at a profit, the C., D. & M. president says. This situation, he states, is the primary cause of his company's decision to give up its franchise here.

"With Marion a city of approximately 30,000 population, and with one out of about every four or five families owning an automobile, there is little chance of street cars getting much business," Mr. Van Deinse says.

Don't dope YOUR COUGH

It is not wise to use remedies which depend upon "dope" such as narcotics, chloroform, cannabis or tar products. They may stop your cough temporarily by numbing the tissues, as most cough mixtures do, but this is not enough.

The inflamed air passages must be soothed naturally, the germ-laden mucous loosened and expelled in order to effect a lasting recovery. PERTUSSIN assists Nature to accomplish these results in a remarkably short time—and is absolutely harmless.

case cannot be reached for argument until early next autumn. Meanwhile, Stewart will remain at liberty under the $5,000 bond. He cannot, however, leave the country except by permission of the court.

Status About Same

The status of Stewart and his friend, Harry F. Sinclair, has become largely the same as a result of today's court action. Sinclair has been tried before a jury for contempt of the United States Senate and sentenced to three months in jail.

Stewart has been arrested for the same contempt—refusal to answer questions concerning the Continental Trading Company's $3,000,000 "slush fund," propounded by the Senate Oil Committee.

Look for Indictment

Formal indictment of Stewart for contempt of the Senate by a District of Columbia Grand Jury is expected almost daily. This indictment, as in Sinclair's case, will be followed by a jury trial, and conviction is regarded by government attorneys as certain. Then, if Stewart follows Sinclair's example, there will be an appeal from that conviction, and further lengthy delays.

The Senate, however, acted somewhat differently in Stewart's case by citing him to appear in person before the bar of the Senate and be sentenced directly by the Senate for contempt. The writ of habeas corpus which Stewart was granted only a half hour before he was to have been hailed before the Senate personally operated to prevent that. Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, the Senate oil prosecutor, and other constitutional authorities, however, maintain that the Senate has the constitutional right to itself sentence for contempt without recourse to the courts. That is one of the matters that probably will be threshed out in the long road of litigation that lies ahead of both Sinclair and Stewart.

KIWANIANS OBSERVE THEIR ANNIVERSARY

Past Presidents on Speaking Program at Hotel Harding Luncheon Meeting

Members of the Marion Kiwanis Club celebrated their seventh birthday anniversary with a birthday luncheon party at Hotel Harding at noon today. Wives of the members were guests and a large birthday cake adorned with seven lighted candles occupied the speakers' table.

The cake cut into four parts was given as the silent boost for the guests and was won by Mrs. A. W. Kette, Mrs. A. B. Lawson, Mrs. W. E. Orcutt, and Mrs. F. J. Hunter.

Talks were made by John H. Clark, George Whysall, A. W. Kette and Earl T. Smart, as past presidents of the club. Dr. J. W. McMurray, Dr. F. A. Stengel, past presidents, were not present. Charles W. McClain, of Cleveland, also is a past president.

The following objectives of the club were given by John H. Clark in his talk: "To give primacy to the human and spiritual rather than to the material values of life; to encourage daily living of the Golden Rule in all human relationship; to promote the adoption and application of higher social, business and professional standards; to develop by precept and example, a more intelligent, aggressive and serviceable citizenship; to provide through the club, a practical means to form enduring friendships, to foster altruistic service and to build a better community; to co-operate in creating and maintaining that sound public opinion and high standard which make possible the increase of righteousness, justice, patriotism and good will."

FIVE DELAWARE MEN TAKEN IN ROUNDUP

Theft of Armory Pistols Gives Clew in Attempted Safe Robbery

Delaware, Feb. 23—Theft of three automatic pistols from the Ohio National Guard Armory here furnished officials with the clew which led to the arrest of five men who are alleged to have attempted a robbery at the Bank Galena Tuesday night, it was learned today.

The five under arrest are: Alonzo Legg, 23; Paul Legg, 25; John Legg, Jr., 17; John Legg, 50, father of the others; and Clarence Hazelett, 24.

Alonzo Legg and Hazelett are members of the local O. N. G. company. When the pistols and two acetylene tanks and a torch were stolen from a welding shop here the same night officials anticipated a safe robbery attempt.

Tuesday night robbers broke into the Bank at Galena but failed in an apparent attempt to open the same with an acetylene torch. A grocery and hardware store in the village were also entered the same night and a quantity of merchandise stolen.

Yesterday, the pistols were returned to the captain of the guard company by Hazelett. His arrest and the arrest of the Leggs resulted. Groceries stolen from the Galena store were discovered at the home of Paul Legg, authorities state, and Hazelett and Alonzo Legg are said to have confessed to their parts in the affair.

DEFENSE MAY CALL SURPRISE WITNESSES

State Rests Case in Bank Robbery Trial; Five Identify Hand

Bucyrus, Feb. 23—That the defense was about to call a number of "surprise witnesses" before the end of the day was the intimation of Attorney C. Ahl, defense counsel in the Arthur Hand robbery trial now in the third day of progress here. Who the witnesses were or what testimony was likely to be revealed, Ahl would not divulge.

The state rested its case at 2:25 o'clock yesterday afternoon after placing five witnesses on the stand, all of whom testified that Arthur Hand was a member of the gang that robbed the Galion Commercial Savings Bank last June.

During the remainder of yesterday afternoon and this morning the defense introduced a number of witnesses and read several character depositions. A Toledo police officer testified that Hand had no police record in that city. A Dr. Randolph, of Toledo, testified in a character deposition that he knew of nothing questionable in Hand's character.

The deposition of J. M. Osborne, a former Galion resident and a customer in the bank at the time of the robbery, implicated Harry Zillick in the robbery, but stated that Osborne did not recognize Arthur Hand as a member of the gang. The deposition was taken in Kansas City by Hand some time ago. Osborne left Galion shortly after the robbery.

DE CLIFF STORE IS POPULAR WITH THUGS

Place Entered Third Time Within Last Two Months, Sheriff Told

A general store operated by Green Miller at DeCliff, a village in the western part of Marion County, appears to be a favorite target for burglars. The store was entered last night for the third time in the last two months, according to a report received by Sheriff Deal, who was called to make an investigation.

Entrance to the store was effected last night by breaking one of the front windows. Flour, bread, clothing and other merchandise valued at about $[illegible] constituted the loot, which was evidently hauled away in an automobile as trucking tracks were found in front of the building when Miller opened it up for the day.

Two weeks ago [illegible] entered and the safe [illegible] opened early in [illegible]

"Blinky, Frog Rip, Still Gropes Drowsily in Abode

EASTLAND, TEX., Feb. 26—"Blinky," the famous horned-toad which outstripped Rip Van Winkle by 11 years, drowsily groped about in his abode here today seemingly not caring if he ever breaks his fast.

The 31 year incarceration in a building corner stone with no food and no ink and the proclamation to the world that Texas horned frogs live to be a hundred even without air has stirred up a controversy in which scientists are reported to have scoffed the idea that such a 'miracle' could occur.

But "Blinky" is not without affiants who further say[illegible] roads led to the Eastland County courthouse here today and there are many who delare they will make affidavit the reptile actually was entombed alive these 31 years. A barber, a couple of ministers of the gospel and judges and capitalists are among those who "know."

While the controversy went merrily on hundreds dropped into town today, augmenting the crowds which already have seen the modern "Rip."

"Blinky" as yet has shown no inclination to eat. Examinations have been made and he is reported "in fine shape," however.

LAUNCH NEW EFFORT TO BREAK DEADLOCK

Would Rush Proposed Investigation of Sinking of Submarine

Washington, Feb. 23—A new attempt to break a deadlock between the Senate and House over the proposed investigation of the sinking of the submarine S 4 with a loss of 40 lives was launched today, with congressional leaders holding out little hope of agreement.

Representative Snell, Republican of New York, chairman of the House Conference committe, notified Senator Hale, Republican of Maine, that the House conferees were ready to make anothr effort to reach a solution.

The long-awaited report of the naval board of inquiry apparently has stiffened the attitude of the House committee. The House resolution provided for a presidential commission to investigate the sinking while the Senate provided in addition a congressional committee probe.

Regardless of the report of the conference committee, a fight was presaged in both house's.

"The report of the naval board of inquiry, in placing the blame both on the submarine commander and the commander of the destroyer Paulding, which struck the sumbarine in Provincetown Harbor, is very complete," said Snell

ELLEN TERRY ILL

London, Feb. 23—Ellen Terry, for years one of the world's best known actresses, is ill of bronchitis.

COMING STARS of the MOVIES

Jeanne Eagles

EMBARRASSMENT of riches is confronting pretty Jeanne Eagles, and she really doesn't know what to do about it. Having made a terrific hit on the "spoken" stage as the star of "Rain," she followed this up by a sensational performance as Jack Gilbert's leading woman in the picture-drama, "Man, Woman and Sin."

Movie and talkie contracts galore have piled in upon pretty Jeanne, but her most intimate friends incline to the opinion that, torn as she is now between her choice of Broadway or Hollywood, she'll eventually go to the Coast and continue her celluloid career.

So we're safe in assuming that Jeanne is one of the coming stars to be grouped under this head, and we'll go further than that and predict that, if she does adopt motion pictures permanently, she'll become one of the greatest stars of 'em all.

Jeanne is a Kansas City girl, of French-Irish parentage, and got her early training in stock. Just now she's reported on the verge of divorcing Ted Coy, the famous Yale football star.

BLACKMER RECEIVED $750,000 OF BONDS

Personal Attorney of Former Oil Head Tells Story to Committee

Washington, Feb. 23—Henry M. Blackmer, former head of the Midwest Refining Company, who fled to Europe to escape the oil trials, received $750,000 of the Continental Trading Company's mysterious $3,000,000 Liberty Bond "slush fund", Karl D. Schuyler, of Denver, his personal attorney, told the Senate Public Lands Committee today.

The bonds have been held for the last two years in the vaults of the Equity Trust Co. of New York in the name of a joint account held by George E. Holm, George Gordon Battle and Schuyler, the witness said. This method of keeping the bonds, Schuyler said, was decided on as a means of proving that Blackmer was not profiting from his share of the Continental Bonds.

Schuyler told a dramatic story of how Blackmer returned from Europe in March, 1926 to dispose of Continental bonds. It was the same procedure followed by James E. O'Neil, former head of the Prairie Oil and Gas Co., who made a flying trip to Canada to give $800,000 of the Continental bonds to his company when he feared he was about to die.

Schuyler said Blackmer turned the bonds over to him in Montreal and that he desposited them in box 3004 at the Equity Trust Co.

"The bonds are there now and are intact," said Schuyler.

FIRE BURNS HOUSE, BARN NEAR KENTON

Defective Flue Causes Blaze That Destroys Home of Peter Brown

Kenton, Feb. 23—Fire thought to have started from a defective flue totally destroyed the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Brown, south of here, causing a loss of more than $3,000. Some insurance was carried.

The blaze started in the attic and had eaten its way between the plastering and the sidewall before crackling sounds attracted the attention of members of the family.

Little of the home furnishings were saved. The fire had gained too great a headway to be extinguished when help arrived.

Damage estimated at $5,000 resulted when fire destroyed a large barn and most of its contents in the Harvey Bame farm west of here. Spontaneous combustion caused by shredded fodder in one end of the structure is believed to have started the fire.

Valuable farm machinery was destroyed together with grains and hay. Livestock, however, was saved.

TAKES FIRST STEP TO ELECTRIFY PLANT

Kenton Waterworks May Be Operated by Electric Power To Lower Cost

Kenton, Feb. 23—First steps in the proposed plans to electrify the city waterworks plant on South Detroit-st. were taken last night when city council by unanimous vote instructed Service Director E. F. Gelhaus to receive plans and specifications for the improvement.

This action comes in line with recommendations made the first of the year by Mayor W. J. Ochs that electrical equipment be installed at the plant to effect a greater savings.

Appearing before council last night, Mayor Ochs declared that changes at the waterworks must be completed as soon as possible to effect a greater savings in the operating costs.

"The plant at present is running at a loss," he declared. "Revenues have decreased 30 per cent under last year while the operating costs are increasing." Meterization of the city last year was declared responsible in a large degree for the cut in revenues.

Approximate costs of the installation of the electrical equipment is not known and will not be known until after plans and specifications are drawn, however the change will cut operating expenses in half, it was said.

Whatever plans are drawn for replacing the present steam equipment must first meet with state requirements for cities the size of Kenton. Special power rates for the operation of electrical equipment at the plant have been offered by the Ohio Power Co., it was pointed out.

Motion to instruct the service director to receive plans and specifications was made by Councilman John Hogan and it received unanimous approval.

Order of Eagles were made at the ... meeting of the lodge held last night. These events will be in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the local Eagles' organization on March 21 and the annual memorial services, which will also take place in March, the date to be announced later.

The main feature of the anniversary observation will be initiation of a class of approximately 100 candidates. This is to be the final class of the membership campaign which has been in progress during the last two months.

At last night's meeting 59 applications for membership were received and these applicants will be included in the anniversary class.

Committee Named

A committee consisting of V. V. Bush, P. H. Neulig, John Lusch, Fred Eaton, John A. Abel and W. M. Ireland was appointed to arrange for the annual memorial services.

An invitation from the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Eagles for a series of four euchre contests between that organization and Buckeye Aerie was accepted. The first of the contests will take place the second Friday night in March.

The lodge decided to hold open house following its meeting on March 7, when friends of the members will be invited to attend a special entertainment to be provided for the occasion.

Following last night's session, lunch was served and A. W. Fausnaugh entertained with an exhibition of old-time fiddling.

VICTIM'S RELATIVES MAKE CHARGES OF NEGLIGENCE

Genera—Charges of negligence on the part of the crew of the Italian liner Principessa Fafalda in rescuing passengers when the vessel sank off South America last fall, are being revived here by the Bernese Bund.

The newspaper quotes a statement by the sister of a Swiss victim of the disaster, in which more than 300 lives were lost. The Bund says that this girl questioned surviving passengers and members of the crew, and that two Italian friends of her brother told her that the officers and crew of the ship made no attempt to help in the rescue work.

Further than this, the girl charges, the passengers had to lower boats themselves, with the result than many of them were capsized with all aboard.

WEAK KIDNEYS MADE HIS BACK SORE AND ACHY

Entire System Badly Run-down in General Before He Found Konjola

MR. CARL BARGETZ

"My system was in a very weakened condition before I got Konjola," said Mr. Carl Bargetz, 561 Brittian Road, East Akron, Ohio, "and it is the only medicine that actually gave me new health.

"My kidneys were in a weak condition and they caused me much pain and suffering across my back. I was terribly constipated and my stomach was always upset. Every bite of food caused me to suffer from gas and bloating spells. I had headaches and was subject to chills. My joints were sore and stiff and sometimes this would keep me awake most of the time.

"I decided to try Konjola and after I heard what it had done for others. It immediately drove all the poisons from my system and the pains in my back disappeared. I now eat anything I want and digest the food properly. I never have gas pains or bloating spells any more. In every way I feel in the best of health and I know that Konjola was the medicine that relieved me so wonderfully."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that had been going on for years. At the same time many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product until now Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

Konjola is strongly recommended here in Marion at Stump & Sams Pharmacy, and is also being sold by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section.—Adv.

This is one of the reasons who so many city's business accounts are found here.

LAWRENCE'S BOOK ABOUT ARABIA WILL BE FILMED

London—As the result of many months of negotiation, a British film company has obtained the rights to make a motion picture of the story of Lawrence of Arabia, based on Col. T. E. Lawrence's own book, "Revolt in the Desert."

Lawrence gained world-wide fame through his part in the Arab revolution, and his books on the subject have enjoyed tremendous popularity.

It is understood that an American film company bid $150,000 for the film rights to "Revolt in the Desert," but that this offer was turned down in favor of one made by a new British film syndicate, of which Collingswood Hughes, the author and lecturer, is the head.

M. A. Wetherell, who has produced a number of British films, will handle the production of Lawrence's story. He has extensive knowledge of Africa and the East.

Millions of Families Depend on Dr. Caldwell's Prescription

Dr. W. B. Caldwell M.D. AT AGE 83

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.—Adv.

C., D. & M. cagers last night stayed in the race for first place of the Marion Industrial Basketball League when they defeated the Silk Mill quintet, 30 to 13.

Osgood and Business College cagers continued to hold first place together. Osgood defeated the Malleable team after a hard battle and the General Excavators forfeited to the Business College team.

In an exhibition game between the Collegians and All Star team, the latter aggregation won 32 to 24. Applegett starred for the victors in this game scoring 12 points. Belt scored 10 counters for the College five.

C., D. & M. experienced no trouble in defeating the Silk Mill aggregation. Applegett scored 12 points in this game while Fetter accounted for 10. Merchant led the Silk Mill scorers.

The battle between Osgood and American Malleable was perhaps the hardest fought of the evening. The score at the end of the first half gave Osgood a 14 to 11 lead.

TEXAS FIGHTER IS GIVEN GREAT HAND

"Cowboy" Willis Stands Up Under Punishment at Hands of Walker

San Francisco, Feb. 23 — The plaudits of admirers rang in the ears of Jack "Cowboy" Willis of Texas today, while in boxing circles could be heard the insistent comment: "The cowboy has plenty of heart."

Heart, the supreme attribute of a fighter, is the possession of the boy from the Lone Star State. It took heart and great quantities of it to stand erect beneath the wilting assault of Mickey Walker, world's champion middleweight, at the state armory here yesterday. And Willis, despite the fact that the title-holder won the decision, never cracked in all of these 10 gruelling rounds of the main event in Harry Morrison's holiday program.

As a matter of fact, there were moments in that spectacular battle when the heart of the champion and not the heart of the Texan, was taxed to the limit.

For in the sixth and again in the seventh canto, the "boy bulldog" was indeed a sorry sight. Blood from gashes beneath each eye trickled down his cheeks. His limbs shook. His slick pompadour was transformed into a mass of wildly dishevled locks. He staggered against the ropes and covered up as best he could. He fell into cumbersome clinches and clung on for dear life. With telling effect his younger opponent jabbed his face with left pokes and followed with long rights to the body.

SETS RECORD

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 23—A new swimming record of one minute 39 4-5 seconds for the 150-yard back stroke event was on the books today. It was made by George Kojac, of New York, in the Yale Boys' Club meet here.

OLDEST OF JOCKEYS

Although nearly 100 years old, John Faulkner of Appleford, England, father of 32 children, and the oldest jockey in the world, still enjoys his pipe and life in general. He'll celebrate his century birthday on March 12.

WISCONSIN-PURDUE TILT TONIGHT HOLDS BIG TEN INTEREST

Conference Leadership at Stake; Ohio State Defeated by Indiana, 52-17

Chicago, Feb. 23—Basketball fans the length and breadth of the Big Ten dominion will let everything else slide tonight until they hear the result of the Wisconsin-Purdue tilt at Madison.

This game—and its sequel, to be played Saturday on the Boilermakers' floor at Lafayette—are arousing more interest than anything that has happened in Western Conference circles since the crashing football dramas of last fall.

Purdue and Wisconsin are now tied for the conference lead, each has won six games and lost one. Tonight will be their first meeting of the current season. It will be the acid test as to who's who in conference basketball.

Winner To Be First

If one team is fortunate enough to win both games of the "little world series," that team is almost certain to finish the race in front. Unless one quintet is greatly superior to the other, the advantage of playing in home territory may divide the series and leave the two rivals just where they started.

Through Illinois and eastward, sentiment favors the Boilermakers to win both games. Purdue to date, it believed, has faced and defeated stronger teams than have the Badgers.

Two Played Last Night

Two Big Ten games were decided last night. Minnesota, on its own floor, upset the dope by defeating Chicago, 30 to 18. The Maroons, by virtue of their improved showing against Illinois in a recent game, were calculated to "take" the lowly and disheartened Gophers. The surprising feature was that Minnesota won by careful guarding, a department in which Chicago has excelled.

In the other games last night, Indiana trounced Ohio State at Columbus by the overwhelming count of 52 to 17. The Buckeyes were helpless before the strong Hoosier attack. Indiana led at the half, 31 to 7.

Two other games, beside the Purdue-Wisconsin bell ringer, are scheduled for Saturday night. They are Minnesota at Ohio State and Northwestern at Michigan. Tomorrow night Illinois entertains Iowa at Champaign.

ARRIVES FOR BOUTS

New York, Feb. 23—Phil Scott, the English heavyweight who has just arrived here for another American ring invasion, says he hopes to land a match with Gene Tunney. However, he is booked to fight several lesser fights.

FIGHTING RED-HEAD STARS FOR OHIO WESLEYAN FIVE

Brilliant playing of John (Red) Halliday, Gallipolis, has been an outstanding factor in keeping the Ohio Wesleyan team in the race for the Buckeye Athletic Association basetball championship this season.

This red-headed Bishop guard has seen more action than any other member of the Ohio Wesleyan guard and has starred consistently throughout the season. He has not been off form in a single game.

Halliday is a fighting guard and directs the Bishop floor strategy most of the time. He has scored consistently throughout the season being Ohio Wesleyan's most deadly long range shot. "Red" shoots only a few times each game, but makes practically half of his attempts good. Two such exhibitions of long range sharp-shooting enabled "Red" to tie the score in the last minute of play in the over-time game which Wesleyan recently won from Ohio.

Halliday is a regular half-back on the Bishop football team and as a track man won the broad and high jumps in the B. A. A. meet last spring.

"Old Man Stagg" to Send "Singing Team" Into Field

Chicago, Feb. 23—Almost any day an old man with steady legs and a stern face may be seen running for five blocks from his home to Bartlett gymnasium on the University of Chicago campus.

His skin has the glow of youth; his chest rises and falls with the rhythm of a college athlete.

He is A. Stagg, former Yale football star and for 35 years coach at the University of Chicago. Despite his 67 years he still can run a block with the speediest freshman of the Maroon squad and he plays tennis almost daily for almost eight months of the year.

Is Still Popular

In the wake of several disastrous seasons on the gridiron, Coach Stagg is more popular and beloved than ever at Chicago. He enters 1928 with years of alumni and newspaper criticism of his methods entirely silenced and his supporters both in and outside of the university are more loyal than ever in his record-breaking period of service as an athletic director.

The veteran coach is said to have only three guiding rules in his own life and in his instruction methods. He believes in clean living—physical fitness—clean thinking and thirdly, singing.

Stagg never drinks, smokes or swears and he always has a kindly thought and word for friends and enemies alike. He does not tolerate swearing either on or off the football field.

Singing Maroons

His mania for singing and his belief that the inspiration of a rousing song is a great aid to his elevens has brought him much ridicule and abuse but the "Singing Maroons" will continue probably for all time at Chicago.

It is now related that only athletes eligible for the "C" button receive that award who are able to sing the "Song of the C," the official anthem of the athletic bodies. A star athlete recently was not given a "C" button when he failed in his "recital" after called before Stagg to render the "C" song. An All-American football back lost his "C" button in the same fashion.

This season Stagg plans to send his football eleven into the field singing loudly. And after the game is over, whether it is a victory or defeat, the entire squad will gather around the captain and instead of engaging in a college cheer will render the "Song of the C."

Training Camp Briefs

CATALINA ISLAND, Cal., Feb. 23—Manager Joe McCarthy of the Cubs is spending a good many minutes of his time each day in tutoring a couple of his promising recruit hurlers. They are Granville Bush, brother and stable mate of the veteran Guy, and "Spipe" Hansen, a lanky southpaw. There's a real ball game scheduled for Sunday. A sailor's team from a battleship in the harbor sent in a challenge and McCarthy accepted.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23—Pitcher Vic Aldridge, obtained by the New York Giants from the Pittsburgh Pirates in exchange for Burleigh Grimes, may be a holdout. He has not joined the other New York battery men working out here nor has he returned his contract, mailed to his home in Terre Haute, Ind., eight days ago.

Pitcher Jess Doyle, obtained from Toronto, also is missing. His home is in Belleville, Ill.

Manager John McGraw is being kept awake o'nights by scores of telephone calls concerning a rumor that Ty Cobb had signed with the Giants. McGraw denied the report.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 23 — A majority of the Cleveland Indians were here today to start spring training, with others expected to straggle into the city day by day. Rainy weather greeted the adv nce guard of the Tribe on its arrival, indicating that the first practice scheduled for today, might be postponed.

CHICAGO, Feb. 23—The second contingent of National League Cubs was scheduled to steam out of town today bound for the Catalina Island training camp.

Prominent among those on board was one Hack Wilson, whom rumor had it was balking over the terms of his 1928 contract. The portly outfielder reached Chicago yesterday and five minutes after walking into the offices of President William Veeck, he had signed on the dotted line.

Others who will accompany Hack on the western-bound Pullman are Elwood English, Fred Maguire, Earl Webb, Riggs Stephenson, Norman McMillan, Elmer Yoter and last—but not least—Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler.

Manager Joe McCarthy and the first gathering of players are already on the sunny slopes of Catalina hard at work.

DEMPSEY HOPES TO RETIRE FROM RING AT TOP OF LADDER

Statement of Jack Puts an End to All Rumors of Retirement

BY FRANK G. MENKE

Jack Dempsey hopes to retire from the land of swat as champion of the world—as champion and nothing less.

It isn't possible, is it, for a non-champion to become champion unless he fights—and wins? And so the retirement story becomes automatically phooie, even if Dempsey himself didn't let a few kittens out of the basket which promptly meowed "it's the bunk—it's the bunk."

In answer to solicitious inquires as to his alleged fallen arches, his dimming peepers, his senile decay and his other ailments, Dempsey takes pen in hand and twitters telegrams like this:

"Never felt better in my life."

"Feel so far better now than I did a year ago at this time that there's no comparison."

"Nothing the matter with the eye that a little rest won't cure."

"Having a lot of fun out here in sunny California and not interested in what's doing back East but as soon as they get through having cold weather there—well, that's different."

And between whiles, Dempsey goes through plenty of calisthenics, exercises on a walking and running machine; keeps his weight close to 202 and hopefully sighs:

"One more shot at Tunney—and then—ah!"

Plot Rather Thin

The retirement yarn? Well, that's the laugh. Tex Rickard originated it and the plot is so thin that it's become a comedy—not a drama concerning the passing of the star of listic stars.

Rickard "busted" the Dempsey "retirement" while he and Tunney were in Florida. Dempsey was in California. Afterward when appeals were made to Dempsey, "Is it true, Jack, oh, say it ain't so," the mauling youth hemmed a bit and hawed and countered:

"Ah, now, let me see? You say Rickard says I'm parking my mittens for keeps? You said he said that? Let's see the piece in the paper where he said that."

So the dispatch was shown to Dempsey.

Takes Hint

"Well, you know me; anything Tex says goes for me. He said I was retiring, didn't he? Well, that's that, isn't it? But you'd better put a little piece in that retirement story saying that if my eye gets better, why, maybe, y' understand boys, how it is, maybe Tex is wrong, see? Get me right, boys, get me right."

"Sure," was the answer. "And which eye did you say was on the blink?"

"Ah, yes, which eye," pondered Dempsey. "Ah, yes, I did say something about an eye being afflicted with wiggilitis or something like that, didn't I? Which one, you ask? Why, what difference does it make? Oh, you say it does make a difference; that I gotta be specific? Well, say it's the ah—well, say the left."

And Dempsey blinked the left eye in a say way to prove that it was that eye, dear people, oh, yes, the left eye.

"But," interposed the interviewers, "nothing seems to be wrong with it And you ain't wearing specks."

Was His Off Day

"Yeah, that's right—I ain't wearing specs. But this is Tuesday. On Tuesdays and Thursdays I don't wear 'em—sort of my days off; y' see? But on the other days you drop around and I'll wear 'em for you. Nice dark colored glasses, boys; make a fellow look almost aristocratic. Great things, these glasses to give a fellow a swanky appearance. Until Tex told me—ah cut that out of my story. What I mean is until my eye got on the hummer and I had to wear glasses—say, by the way, how does Tunney look?"

Somebody told him "good."

"Now in 1926," commented Dempsey, "he was at his peak; I was awful. He spanked me. In 1927 I think he showed some signs of slipping. I was far better than a year before, even through I went through a tough seige of sickness last winter. In 1928 I don't think Tunney will be as good as he was even in 1927 and as for me—well, when I get through wearing these glasses and begin tuning up—oh, pardon me pardon me. I almost forgot I was retired, didn't I?

"But I am—sure I am. Tex said I was. A great fellow, Tex. Whatever he says goes with me. He always thought I could knock Tunney's block off. And that still goes—with me. See you later boys—when I've got my glasses on. Never mind bringing me a tin cup and lead pencils. It isn't that bad."

HATCHERY ASSURED

Project Planned for Franklin County Along Scioto River

Columbus, Feb. 23—As artificial fish hatchery is assured Franklin County as soon as a suitable site can be decided upon. This project was announced at a meeting of the Izaak Walton League of America here recently. The Izaak Walton League is also working with the Central Ohio Anglers' and Hunters' Club and the Columbus Industrial Bureau to establish a natural fish hatchery off the west side of the Scioto River between the O'Shaughnessy dam and the Girls' Industrial Home. These hatcheries will greatly improve general public fishing in Franklin County and along the banks of the Scioto.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE WILL START MONDAY

Coaches Plan Spring Workouts at Ohio University; 75 Get Suits

Athens, O., Feb. 23—Approximately 75 candidates for next year's varsity grid squad have been given suits in preparation for the spring football practice which will begin Monday. This will be the first time spring practice has been carried on for several years.

The spring drill will continue throughout the remaining weeks of the month and early March, but will terminate previous to the opening of the track and baseball season in order that grid candidates may participate in other sports.

Head Coach Don Peden will be in charge of the practice and will be aided by Coaches Grover and Herbert, along with a crew of student assistants.

Fundamental maneuvers, consisting of blocking and tackling will occupy the greater part of the spring practice, but the yearling squad will take part in daily drill and will be used as opposition to the varsity on a few occasions.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

Exposure—chill—muscles knotted with pain

260 Gloucester fishermen said, "This gives quickest relief.."

NO HARDIER, heartier class of men lives than the men of the fishing fleets.

Nothing daunts them—raging gales, mountainous waves, sudden and heavy strains, the freakish accidents of the sea.

How do they manage to avoid colds, rheumatism, stiffening of the muscles when they've been facing icy seas in an open boat? How do they relieve the aching of tired muscles when they've been straining over the heavy nets? What do they do for the sprains, wrenches, bruises that are bound to occur in an adventurous life like theirs?

We asked numbers of the fishermen of the famous old fishing town of Gloucester, Mass., to answer these questions.

260 said, "We use Sloan's."

The best friend of all who face exposure and strain

It's the same story everywhere among people who have to face exposure or strain. Policemen, postmen, firemen, factory workers, farmers—they all say they rely on Sloan's Liniment to rid them of rheumatic aches, stiffness of the muscles, the pain of sprains and bruises.

Read this account of how a bad case of stiff neck was completely relieved in less than five minutes:

"I was working and got a little warm, and it turned in and rained. I got good and wet. I got a stiff neck and could not turn my head. I used Sloan's and the pain left me in less than five minutes." S. K. Smalley, 75 Union Ave., Bellevue, Pa.

Sloan's Liniment doesn't just deaden the pain. It draws new blood into the stiff muscle, the torn ligament, the rheumatic joint; and stops the pain by driving out congestion, and sweeping away germs and poisons. Get a bottle. You can never tell when it may save you hours of agony. A bottle that lasts a long time costs only 35c—at all druggists.

One of the Gloucester fishermen. They protect themselves from strain and exposure with Sloan's

A doctor who takes care of thousands of workers says: "People whose work exposes them to strain or to damp and cold usually suffer from a good deal of muscular soreness. We find that Sloan's gives them quick, positive relief."

Use Sloan's Liniment for all kinds of muscular pain. It relieves:

Rheumatism	Lame Muscles
Sciatica	Stiff Neck
Lumbago	Colds
Neuralgia	Congestions
Sprains	Bruises

SLOAN'S Endorsed universally by those who do the world's hard work

WOODS and WATERS by Homer Bow

Reel Repairs

It will not be a great many ...weeks before bait casters will be hurling plugs across the waters of Ohio. Unless reels are in the best of shape, it is very possible that plugs, spinners and spoons snapped over the water will come to a very abrupt halt in mid-air and splash into the lake or stream, far short of the intended mark. Then the angler will bend over his reel and tediously pick away at the strands of snarled line.

The best results in reel repairs seem to be obtained by the original manufacturer. These factories are equipped to install any necessary new parts and send a reel back to its user in a condition as good as new. These repairs are made at an almost unbelievably low cost.

At this time of the year manufacturers are practically swamped in getting out production for the summer and in repairing reels sent in by fishermen. Because of this, it is best to send your reel in as early as possible.

High Cost of Fishing

I am beginning to doubt seriously the story of the Scotchman who starved to death in a pay-as-you-leave car and of the other one who quit golf because he lost his ball, for reports have it that the Scotchman pays sums to fish that would stagger a well-off American angler.

It seems that over in Scotland, if you wish to fish any of the select areas, you have to pay dearly for it.

The season on salmon in Scotland opened last Saturday and Scotchmen flocked to the Dee, Spey, Deveron and Findhorn,, just as fishermen of Ohio would travel to Vermilion, Walhonding or Sugar Creek.

But in the case of Americans, a five-dollar bill would cover cost of the entire trip and the result might be some mighty fine fish. The Scotchman faces the proposition that each salmon he takes will cost him about eight pounds, or $40 in the terms of American disciples of Walton.

The reason is that in Scotland, England and Wales, an angler has to rent the water he is to fish. Huge sums are paid for stretches on the better streams. For instance, three miles of the river Dee have just been rented for the season for $10,000. Rentals paid by rod fishermen on the river, about 50 miles of it, will amount to nearly $62,500.

FRANCE SUPREME

Philadelphia, Feb. 23—France today stands supreme in both professional and amateur tennis. Pierre Etchebaster, 35-year-old basque, captured the professional court tennis championship from the American titleholder, Jock Soutar, by winning the last four sets of their match here. The Frenchman previously had won three of the first four sets.

TERRIS IS SELECTED TO WIN FIGHT FROM M'LARNIN BY MANY

"Too Many Gloves and Too Many Feet" Is Statement of Wallace

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Feb. 23—"Too many gloves and too many feet."

Thus came the word to town today from Billy Wallace, one of the big shots of the division, on the stand-out lightweight fight of the season tomorrow night between Sid Terris and Jimmy McLarnin. Wallace thinks that Terris will win for the reasons quoted and his ideas rate attention because, so far as I know, he is the only man who has met both of the principals and has had an opportunity to make an intensive study of feet and gloves, mostly the latter.

He is among the growing few who have had Terris looking intently at the arc lights from the flat of his back during recent fights; in fact, Sidney was a Salvation Army man several times during the Wallace fight—down Yes, out, no Billy, on the other hand, forsook the perpendicular, if I recall the matter, during his meeting with McLarnin.

Says Terris Is Too Fast

Yet he says Terris, the man he dropped at least twice, is too fast for the man who dropped him. Perhaps that is the way broadway reconciles its odds of 8 to 5 on Terris. I happen to prefer believing otherwise.

Eastern skepticism of something it hasn't seen looks the part of a more logical answer to me. The boys have heard that McLarnin knocked out Jackie Fields and Joe Sangor but this happened in California and they simply didn't see it done. They admit the general understanding that McLarnin stopped Louis Kid Kaplan but this circumstance, unfortunately, took place in the middle west.

For all I know they may doubt that Lindbergh flew the Atlantic. They didn't see that done, either.

Anyhow, the feeling of prejudice is there beyond any doubt.

One writer today complained bitterly about McLarnin failing to do his training within the city limits. He seemed to think that James had something to conceal when, as a matter of fact, the young man really has nothing to prove. He either proved it against such men as Wallace, Kaplan, Sangor, Fields, La Barba and Villa or the form sheets of boxing are utterly worthless.

Lightweight Contender

The National Boxing Association must have been susceptible to the same idea, for it was only yesterday that President Donohue decided that he would rate McLarnin among the lightweight contenders if he beats Terris. In case McLarnin does, he will be beyound either help or hindrance from Mr. Donohue and all his works and pomps. He will be the lightweight contender of the day and age.

Of course, he must do 135 pounds at 2 o'clock or the whole bet is off like a hat in church. McLarnin weighed 137 pounds for the Wallace fight. This fact apparently has caused broadway and the N. B. A. to regard him as a welterweight. But it doesn't seem likely that he would have made the match with Terris if he didn't know what he could do the scales.

However, Broadway is betting the other way, which, for all I may know, may be the most encouraging thing that has happened to McLarnin since he first started breathing and found it was free to the public.

MANDELL FAVORED

Fans Expect To See Grudge Battle in Chicago

Chicago, Feb. 23—Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion of the world, rules a 7-to-5 favorite to beat Jackie Fields of Los Angeles, in the 10-round feature event at the Coliseum tonight. Mandell's title will not be at stake. Fields will weigh 140 pounds and Sammy four or five pounds lighter.

Fans, who are reported buying the pasteboards like the proverbial rush for hot cakes, are expecting to see a grudge fight on the order of the recent Sid Taylor-Joey Sangor affair. Fields fought Sammy to a standstill in a no-decision bout in Los Angeles last fall. They are both determined to clear up the uncertainty that followed that match.

FINGERS OKAY

Babe Ruth Has Autographed Hundreds of Balls

NEW YORK, Feb. 23—Babe Ruth may be in poorer physical shape this spring than in previous years, as some observers claim, but his finger muscles certainly have been getting plenty of work. The Babe says he has written his name on hundreds of baseballs during the winter. One Autographing assignment consisted of 204 baseballs from a man in Minneapolis.

PARSON DEFEATED

New York, Feb. 23—The Rev. Harold C. Cutbill, the "flying parson" of the Boston A. A. today still cherished hopes of making an athletic comeback despite his defeat by Pinkie Sober and Ed Swinburne in the 800-meter run at the Masonic Games in Brooklyn last night. Making his first official track appearance since his suspension six years ago, Cutbill made good time of 2:00 2-5.

OHIO STATE COURT AND TRACK TEAMS TO PLAY SATURDAY

Cagers Will Meet Minnesota; Indiana Track Stars Are Scheduled

Columbus, Feb. 23—Two "at home" engagements, both in major sports, are on the books Saturday for Ohio State University. At the Coliseum in the evening the cage quintet is to tie into Minnesota for the second time this season in a game that promises as much fight as any battle of the year.

The Gophers, with the one bucket defeat of the recent tangle at Minneapolis fresh in mind, will be out to revenge the hectic struggle that occurred when the Bucks helped to dedicate the new Gopher field house. The first game went into two over-time periods before Ohio State pulled into the lead an indication of material of fairly equal caliber. A second angle is found in the fact that both teams are fighting desperately to stay out of the cellar and each can only do so at the other's expense.

As a matinee offering, the track team meets Indiana in the first Big Ten affair to be held on the practice track under the west side of the Stadium. The events get under way at 2:30, there being no admission charge. The Ohioans are in fine shape after their victory in the annual Indoor Quadrangular Meet at Evanston last Saturday and are hoping to take the Hoosiers into camp.

The Bloomington team will bring several outstanding athletes to Columbus. Among the most prominent is W. R. Stephenson who is one of the best 440 and 880 men in the Big Ten, holding a record of 48.5 seconds for the quarter. James Abromm is Stephenson's teammate, the pair of them constituting the backbone of the Indiana championship relay team of 1927. William Bratton and Harold Fields in the distances, Ward Dildine in the half mile, and Robert Todd in the dashes are a few of the threats the Ohio men must meet. Regular Western Conference indoor events and distances are to be run.

WALTER JOHNSON TO PITCH THIS SEASON WITH NEWARK CLUB

Plans Hard Work for First Year as Player-Manager in Minors

New York, Feb. 23—Walter Johnson, referred to as the Washington team for the last 20 years' is already down in Florida getting ready for the 1928 season, this time as a minor leaguer. At his home, Daytona, Walter is getting ready for a big year on the mound with Newark of the International League, according to news received from the big fellow today by James P. Sinnott, president of the Newark club.

"Johnson thinks he'll pitch as many as 25 games in this league," said Sinnot. "He feels in good shape and will work slowly this spring getting ready for the start of the season. He may pitch the opening game and work regularly thereafter."

Sir Walter did not have a good year in 1927, getting away to a bad start after injuring his ankle in training camp. But he doesn't think he is through by any means. The Newark club had in mind his ability to pitch when he was signed as player and manager. If Johnson pitches 25 games, manages the club into a good position in the race, and at the same time attracts through the gates his thousands of admirers, he will indeed be well worth the money Newark is going to pay him.

He is the highest salaried player this league ever had and the highest paid manager with the possible exception of Jack Dunn who owns his own club and sometimes pays himself a rather tidy sum for handling the Orioles.

It was not the fact that Walter Johnson's piching was off last year, nor that he himself wanted to leave the Senators to become a manager, that brought about his departure from the capital. It was a desire on the part of the Washington managament to cut expenses as had been written before. Johnson probably will be as good this year as he was two years ago. Certainly he is no longer a chicken in baseball but on the other hand, probably no man in baseball ever took better care of himself and conserved his great strength as Walter has done.

Should Johnson be able to win around 20 games himself the Newark Club will indeed be dangerous for besides Johnson there is Hugh McQuillan, former Giant and Brave, Jack Bentley, former Giant and Al Mamaux, former star with several big league clubs in addition to a staff of men which might be termed good even if these headliners were not on hand.

Newark Improved

And Johnson has surrounded himself with great hitters. He has a team at Newark this year that probably is better than many of the teams behind him when he was ascending to fame at Washington.

Johnson's preliminary training in Florida will enable him to work slowly towards perfect condition. But he soon will be joined by the other pitchers and catchers of the Newark club. They are to sail for Florida the 20th of the month, pitching camp at St. Augustine, one of the oldest cities on the North American continent.

New York, Feb. 23—A half hearted rally in the industrial and specialty stocks today restored a portion of last week's losses to the shares which bore the brunt of the professional selling. In part, this rally may be considered the culmination of Tuesday's closing short covering advance, since practically all of the buying power was furnished by the professionals who had "sold with both hands" in the downward plunge of prices last week.

Only in exceptional cases was the advance in the speculative favorites retained. Stocks were freely offered on all rallies, and in the fourth hour all of the early gains had been wiped out and losses of a point or more recorded in comparison with the previous close. Steel stocks responded feebly to the new advance of a dollar a ton for shapes, bars and plates, instituted in the midwest, but doubtless soon to extend to all manufacturing points.

Scaling down of the volume of trading in all departments of the market was the natural result of the desire of traders to await the weekly report on brokers' loans, to be issued later in the day. Unless there is a considerable shrinkage in the volume of speculative borrowings, Wall Street will probably conclude that the "shade out!" in stocks has not been thorough enough, and further speculative selling will probably be in order.

Though nearing the month-end, the money market was in good form, call loans being in good supply at 4 1-4 per cent on the board and 4 per cent in the outside market, unsettlment prevailed in the crude rubber market, while commodity prices in most of the local markets were inclined slightly higher.

The steamships now in the transatlantic tourist traffic touch at 50 ports of Europe.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S MARKET

Chicago, Feb. 23—Grain traders turned their eyes to foreign markets for news of the wheat situation yesterday, as domestic grain exchanges were closed in observance of Washington's birthday. With the large surplus of grain in North America foreign news is, perhaps, the leading factor of interest, with crop conditions a close second.

Wheat had a strong tone on all of the principal foreign exchanges. Liverpool was firmer than due. Their futures ruled sharply higher all session, closing with net advances of ⅝@¾d. Advices said their strength was due in part to import buying from Australia by Japan.

Under the influence of decidedly strong cables, Winnipeg opened ¼@⅝c higher. Excellent buying by exporters and seaboard houses caused further advances and forced shorts to cover, sending prices of all futures over 1c above the previous close. Closing prices were ⅞@1⅛c up.

Pool Sells Futures

The May future touched $1.39⅛, but at that point the pool offered enough to satisfy the demand, and prices eased. However, there was little pressure on the dips. The July delivery was firm on reports of a cold wave in western Canada which may overspread our Winter wheat belt, now unprotected.

Cash heat in the Canadian market was dull, and while offerings were still light, the demand was said to be very poor. Holders were firm, and buyers stood pat. A good export business was transacted over night with sales at both seaboards, the total being estimated at 500,000 bu. Country marketings totaled 723,198 bu. against 483,073 bu. a year ago.

Coarse grains ruled firm and higher, influenced by the strength in wheat. There was a fair demand for oats, and a little export business reported in barley and rye. Oats closed 3-8c up to unchanged and barley 1@1 3-8c higher, and rye 5-8@1-2c higher.

Although Buenos Aires was sharply higher, their action was not regarded as independent, as that exchange has been closed since Saturday. Advances were about in keeping with the upturns of other exchanges on Monday and Tuesday. Their wheat futures at midseason were 1 1-4@1 5-8c higher. Buenos Aires corn was 1 1-4@1 1-2c higher.

Cold weather failed to manifest itself in an increased movement of corn, a factor in the local corn advance Tuesday. Present weather over the belt is generally warmer and unsettled, with temperatures above freezing. The forecast is for colder weather late tonight.

Logan & Bryan's Winnipeg grain letter said in part: "Europe is taking Canadian wheat more freely and after the opening of navigation it will not be surprising to see a big movement down the lakes, while deliveries from farmers at that time may be much lighter than usual.

"Many believe that supplies in Europe have been allowed to reach very small figures and that when supplies now afloat reach the other side a big demand will spring up. At present there is no disposition on the part of exporting countries to offer cheap wheat and prices are easily advanced every time the foreigner comes in the market to fill requirements.

"Much depends on the outcome of the Winter wheat crop and crop scares are to be expected during the next two or three weeks, as conditions have been far from ideal both in America and in Europe."

Says Society Had No Authority To Speak for Episcopalians

Washington, Feb. 23.—Denial that the Church Temperance Society "had any authority to speak for the Episcopalians of the nation" was expressed today by F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, answering its statement Monday that "failure of prohibition is attested by an almost three to one proportion by the American clergy of the Protestant Episcopal Church."

A storm of dry protest has arisen over the statement. The board of directors of the Church Temperance Society issued it after counting answers to a questionnaire sent over the country.

"According to their own showing, the takers of this poll received replies from only a little over half of those to whom a questionnaire was sent," McBride asserted. "Only 1301 out of 5301 ministers failed to find prohibition a success, and only 1389 thought there should be a modification of the Volstead Act," he said. "Even these did not state how they wanted it modified."

Eats Beans, Cucumbers, Sleeps Fine

"I eat pork and beans, cucumbers—anything since taking Adlerika. Stomach trouble is all gone and I sleep fine. - Geo. G. Brooks.

The simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, saline, etc., (known as Adlerika), has a most surprising DOUBLE action. First, it acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel (most medicines act on lower bowel only—and removes foul matter that often poisoned the system for months. Second, Adlerika clears all GAS and sourness from stomach and bowels, bringing INSTANT relief from stomach trouble. And in addition, Adlerika removes metabolic poisons which cause neuritis, rheumatism, etc.

Dr. H. L. Sheob, New York, writes: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing checks the growth of intestinal bacteria and he adds."

Dr. J. Weaver: "In all my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."

J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated."

It will astonish you the great amounts of poisonous matter Adlerika brings out—matter you would never believe was in your system. In chronic constipation, gas, bloating, sour stomach and sick headache, just ONE spoonful Adlerika brings wonderful relief. At leading druggists. Sold in Marion by Heuney & Cooper and other druggists.—Adv.
